

Soviet Union Turns Down Some Parts Of Laos Proposal

Leaves Door Open for Further Talks on Issue

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union rejected some details of the Western proposal for a cease-fire in Laos but kept the door open for further negotiations on the matter, a foreign office spokesman said today.

The spokesman declined to give the substance of the note, delivered Sunday in Moscow, but he made clear that Britain and the Soviet Union won't be joining right away in calling a cease-fire to suspend the fighting between the Western-backed Laotian government of Prince Boun Oum and the pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas.

More Contacts Needed

The spokesman said further contacts with the Soviet government would be required and that meanwhile Britain is consulting with the United States, France and Commonwealth countries.

"Until we have completed discussions with our allies and come to some conclusions," the spokesman said, "we can give no indication as to our views on how the note is to be regarded."

Souavanna Sees Gromyko

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko handed the reply to British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts shortly after the arrival in Moscow of Prince Souavanna Phouma, the Laotian neutralist whom the Soviets recognize as the legal prime minister of Laos.

Souavanna on a world tour to sound out ideas for peace within his war-divided kingdom, continued.

Rusk Sees Danger In Laos Situation

Timing of Cease-Fire Must Be Clarified, He Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the situation in Laos is dangerous, and "we must clarify immediately" in negotiations with Russia the issue of the timing of a cease-fire.

Rusk told a news conference the latest Soviet response to Britain's efforts to negotiate a cease-fire was being carefully studied here and would be discussed with other friendly governments—particularly the British.

As he spoke, there were indications that Russia's delay in accepting an immediate end to the fighting had increased the possibility of military intervention by the United States and its Southeast Asia Treaty Organization allies.

Military Position

Rusk did not talk about intervention but he said the critical point in the whole situation is the military position on the ground in Laos as it relates to the diplomatic negotiations.

When a newsman suggested the Soviet government may be stalling while pro-Communist rebels increase their power to threaten the pro-Western government, Rusk said the matter is one which requires the closest attention.

Rusk said the Soviet reply consisted of several documents the texts of which came to Washington last night and are now receiving careful study.

The first U.S. reaction, Rusk said, is that while the response retains constructive elements of other Soviet proposals on Laos it fails to clarify the issue of the timing of a cease-fire and the means of verifying a cease-fire.

The implication of what Rusk

Court Rules Cafe Has to Serve Negro

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today ruled a privately-operated restaurant in a city-owned garage in Wilmington, Del., is required to serve Negroes.

The tribunal's decision was on an appeal by William H. Burton, a Negro member of the Wilmington City Council who was refused service in the restaurant after parking his car in the garage.

Justice Clark delivered the unanimous decision.

Concurring Opinion

Justice Stewart wrote a concurring opinion in which he disagreed with the manner in which the highest court reached its decision although not with its conclusion.

Stewart said that a state law permits the proprietor of the restaurant to refuse to serve "persons whose reception or entertainment would be offensive to the major part of his customers."

Stewart said there was no suggestion in the record that Burton was such a person.

Stewart said the Delaware Supreme Court had construed the state law as authorizing discriminatory classification based exclusively on color.

"Such a law," said Stewart, "seems to me clearly violative of the 14th amendment." He said the highest court should have declared the law invalid.

Story Describes Unique Features Of Unusual Home

That master of earthy poetry, Edgar A. Guest, once wrote, "It takes a heap o' livin' to make a house a home." He might have added it takes charm, personality and imaginative ingenuity to give a home a character which stands out beyond ordinary homes.

Just such a home is that of Mrs. Kenneth Craig, 329 Ninth St., Neenah, where such improvisations as oil paintings—done by Mrs. Craig—cover walls instead of wallpaper, provide special interest.

Read the story of this most unusual home on Page A-16 in the women's section of this evening's Appleton Post-Crescent.

Castro Blames U.S. After Invaders Land by Sea, Air

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, speaking in Havana, blames President Kennedy and the U. S. government for the dawn air raids on three Cuban cities Saturday.

Delay Likely In Spy Trial

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — The treason-espionage trial of Dr. Israel Beer, a former member of the Israeli general staff arrested as a spy for the Communists, is likely to be delayed until September.

Beer, a former friend of Premier David Ben-Gurion, reportedly has confessed he spied for the Soviet bloc because of his ideological convictions. But his trial will be delayed by that of Adolf Eichmann, which is expected to keep Attorney General Gideon Hausner busy well into the summer.

Beer reportedly was caught in a 2 a.m. raid on March 31 while passing secret information to a Communist diplomat. The arrest was announced Saturday night.

Beer was said to have told an examining magistrate he was so certain of ultimate Communist triumph that he regarded all resistance to Communism as foolish.

Bartender Dies Playing 'Roulette'

Appleton Man Put Gun to Head, Pulled Trigger, Wife Tells Police

A 27-year-old Appleton man decided to play Russian roulette early Sunday morning and lost. Daniel E. Fulcer, 1032½ W. Wisconsin Ave., died in St. Elizabeth Hospital at 7:01 a. m. Sunday of a gunshot wound in the head.

Fulcer shot himself at Midway Bar in the Town of Menasha where he was a bartender. He and his wife, his brother and another bartender were closing the bar.

Mrs. Marlene Fulcer, 21, told Winnebago County police her husband took a revolver from a kitchen drawer, placed it to his head and pulled the trigger. Nothing happened.

She said she yelled to him to stop because the gun might be loaded, but Fulcer laughed and pulled the trigger a second time. The weapon discharged. She said she saw her husband drop to the floor.

Fulcer's brother, Ronald, who had been locking the front door, rushed into the kitchen to see what had happened, then called

Welcome Home For Ike, Mamie

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A brilliant sun and thousands of Pennsylvanians welcomed Dwight and Mamie Eisenhower home to Pennsylvania today. It was the state's official welcome for Eisenhower, who left the White House Jan. 20.

The former president, looking tanned and rested after a six-week vacation in California, was obviously touched.

"I wonder whether you know what coming home means to two people who have wandered the world the 45 years of their marriage," he said, a slight breeze fanning wisps of his hair.

"At last my wife and I have a place to call our own—our home," he added. "We are proud to live among you and we hope to live a long time to get to know our new friends and neighbors."

A Startled Expression Crosses the face of former President Dwight E. Eisenhower as the train taking him and his wife back to their Gettysburg home gets underway with a jerk while the Eisenhowers were still signing autographs at San Bernardino, Calif.

Havana Says U. S. Finances Invading Forces

Roa Tells U.N. Rebels Started From Guatemala

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa charged today that Cuba had been invaded by mercenary forces armed and financed by the United States. He said the invaders came from Guatemala.

The Cuban foreign minister made his declaration immediately after the 99-nation committee convened. He asked that the invasion be considered on an urgent basis.

Roa had been scheduled to deliver an hour-long speech attacking the United States for alleged plans of aggression against the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro. He already had laid before the committee a charge that the United States was responsible for Saturday's dawn airfield bombings.

Gives No Details

Roa gave no details of the Cuban landings, but he used the word "invasion" to describe the operation. He delivered a detailed indictment of both the United States and Guatemala for alleged plotting to overthrow the Castro government.

The Kennedy administration, he said, has continued and increased what he called "crimes and depredations" against Cuba. He charged specifically that Guatemala and the United States were training Cuban refugees as subversives and saboteurs.

It was obvious as he proceeded that he was reading a speech dealing with previous Cuban complaints against the United States.

Roa accused former President Eisenhower of backing anti-Castro elements and declared: "As you see, the Democratic administration is still planning acts of aggression."

Bonded Debt Plan

Nelson Raps Senate For Killing Proposal

MADISON — Gov. Gaylord Nelson said today that the Republican state Senate voted contrary to the wishes of the people of Wisconsin last week when it killed his proposal for a state bonded debt for institution building.

The governor discussed current legislative affairs at his weekly news conference and also commented that:

1. There is some merit to a state program of medical care for the aged as offered in the state legislature by the state medical society, but that he prefers to "go slow on the subject until the Congress decides whether to approve an extension of the social security program to provide such care."

2. The objections to his $50 million program of outdoors recreation lands acquisition that have been made by some Conservation Department officials are "petty and pecuniary."

Knocked Down

The state Senate last week, as it did in 1959, knocked down the Nelson plan to change the state constitution to permit direct state borrowing for capital purposes to replace the extra-constitutional dummy corporation method of financing long-term loans.

Today the governor said that action was "most unfortunate" and added that "the attitude of the people has substantially changed. With a good educational program, this question would not be approved in a referendum."

Nelson predicted the dummy corporation device will have to be continued indefinitely because of the legislature's decision.

"Everybody knows that we must have these buildings and that we must borrow to get them," he said of the corporation device that

Castro's Radio Calls All Militia Units to Report Immediately to Stations

By the Associated Press

Invaders seeking to overthrow Fidel Castro landed in Cuba today by sea and air.

The Cuban prime minister, acknowledging the attack, said it was launched by mercenaries organized by the United States. He declared his troops are advancing against the invaders and are certain of victory. He called on Cubans to maintain order and discipline.

Castro told his people by radio that the invaders had landed at several points in southern Las Villas province.

Cuban exile sources in the United States said forces also had gone ashore in extreme eastern and western Cuba and on a beach southeast of Havana.

The exiles declared "the battle to liberate our homeland" had been joined.

Fighting at Matanzas

Intense fighting and heavy gunfire in Cuba's Matanzas area and air strafings and bombings of the Castro militia was reported today by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Stuart Novins, CBS Latin America correspondent, also said in a broadcast from Miami that two high Castro officers have defected to the rebels. He did not name them.

Novins, who monitored both rebel and government radio broadcasts from Cuba, said those sources indicated several large-scale landings in the Matanzas area, a government.

Carole, Finch Get Life Terms

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his former mistress, Carole Tregoff, today were sentenced formally to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife.

Judge David Coleman said the evidence of their guilt seemed to him overwhelming and denied motions by each defendant for a new trial.

The penalty was decreed March 27 by a jury, which could have sent them to the gas chamber.

The lovers stood without apparent emotion for a moment, then exchanged wan smiles as they went their separate ways to return to jail.

Judge Coleman called their defense "a shoddy and crudely woven fabric of deceit."

He added: "This was a brutal crime, and it appears to the court that the defendants have little left to them but desperate, though earnest legal dialectics."

Asks Action on Farm Program

Kennedy Says It Will Help Farmer, Protect Consumer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today asked congress to act promptly on his new agricultural program, which he said would help the farmer and protect the consumer.

Sending his administration's farm proposals to congress in the form of a bill, Kennedy declared they would "provide the basis for a sound and healthy agricultural economy."

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in a letter to the President also expressed hope that congress would act without delay on legislation to broaden the farmers' power to regulate production.

Details Revised

The ideas expressed were pretty much the same as Kennedy put forth in his farm message to congress March 16. There were some revisions in detail of the plan to broaden the producers' power to regulate their own production.

The bill does not propose specific programs for individual commodities. Rather, it would set up machinery under which producers could get together to work out a program to stabilize their commodity. This, Freeman said in his letter would relieve congress of the "onerous burden" of enacting farm programs.

Under the proposal, such programs would be drafted by the secretary of agriculture with the aid of farmer advisory committees. Each program, providing quotas or other controls would be submitted to congress. If in 60 days neither the senate nor house vetoed the plan, it would be submitted to a producer referendum. If approved by at least two-thirds of those voting, it would go into effect.

Personal Income in March Shows Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — New ground for optimism about the economy: Americans' personal income increased in March for the first time in five months.

The increase over February was $3.4 billion, the Commerce Department reported yesterday. That is, the annual rate of personal income jumped from $406.2 billion to $409.6 billion.

The report showed the wage and salary payments increased by $1.1 billion to $272.1 billion, the first advance in this category since last July.

Belated Snow Hits Chicago, Indiana

Fox Cities Escape Brunt Of Heavy Fall Which Tied Traffic for Miles to South

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A belated snowstorm lashed northern Indiana yesterday and today, stranding hundreds of motorists, virtually isolating scores of communities, and damaging communication and power lines.

At least five deaths were blamed on the storm.

The Fox Cities area escaped the brunt of the blowing snow. Motorists from a line south of Sheboygan through Oshkosh hit heavy snow which made roads nearly impassable.

Cars were stalled for miles along toll roads and expressways. Police were pleading with motorists to remain off the snow-choked routes. At least a foot of snow fell in the northwest portion of Wisconsin.

Appleton had 2.5 inches of snow.

The deaths of 10 persons during the weekend — four of them Sunday — have raised Wisconsin's 1961 highway toll to 229 compared with 185 on the same day a year ago.

James R. Young, 27, and James R. Bickle, 20, both of Fort Atkinson, were killed Sunday when their car skidded off Highway 12 near Fort Atkinson and struck a tree. The crash occurred during a howling snowstorm.

Pied Rose, 64, Racine, was killed when his auto and a Chrysler and North Western Railway switch engine collided at a crossing in Racine.

Car Hits Tree

Ronald Figlinski, 17, Waterford, was killed Sunday when his car left a highway and hit a tree. The crash occurred along Racine County Trunk F a mile north of Highway 36.

Duane Roenneburg, 22, and Ronald Berg, 47, both of Evansville, were killed Saturday night when the motorcycle on which they were riding and an auto collided on Highway 13-14 near Evansville.

Louis S. Meyer, 33, Jefferson, was killed Saturday night when his car overturned in a ditch about 12 miles east of Madison along Highway 30.

Mary Finn, 18, and Clyde Gilbertson, 21, both of Monroe, were killed early Saturday when the car in which they were riding left Highway 92 and struck a tree three miles south of Mt. Horeb.

Arthur Skolas, 28, Richland Center, died Friday night of head injuries suffered when his car left Highway 80 north of Richland Center and crashed into a tree.

White Attending All Negro School

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A white girl is attending a rural elementary school for Negroes and, according to a school official, has "all the white people of the community very, very upset."

But her teacher, Earline Evans, says Monisha Moore, 7, has been accepted by the other second grade pupils and appears to be happy. Monisha has been attending classes at the Cynthiana School for three weeks.

Bruce Moore, an employee of a Knoxville iron works plant, said he was not satisfied with Monisha's progress at the white school which she formerly attending by riding a bus 10 miles.

Sydney Gilreath, a member of the Sevier County School Board, said the community was upset but the board felt it best to "let the thing work itself out."

Church Synod Spokesman Denies Modernism Charges

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A spokesman for the 2.4 million member Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod has denied charges that modernism and liberalism have made strong advances within the religious group.

"We are not conscious that the synod has violated the truth of the word of God," said the Rev. Alfred O. Fuerbringer, president of Concordia Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Cameron A. MacKenzie, spokesman for a group sponsoring a national conference of conservative Lutherans in Milwaukee next month said the Synod's historic position that the Bible is the inspired and inerrant word of God was being questioned by liberal elements in the Synod.

Invited Members
Pastor MacKenzie, of Detroit, Mich., said he invited Lutheran Synod.

Robert Welch Renews Charges in Texas Talk

Claims This Country Could be Taken 'Without Single Shot' Being Fired

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Robert Welch told 1,200 Sunday night that the Soviet Union has no reason to start a war with the United States because this country could be taken "without a single shot" by Communist infiltration.

The founder of the controversial John Birch Society, speaking from a copyright text, renewed charges made earlier that the Communists have had a hand in every major U.S. decision since 1946.

He told an audience made up largely of residents from a fashionable North Dallas-Park Cities area, a conservative stronghold, that the Reds operate on "the principal of reversal" by using slogans that bring an opposite result and replace good with evil.

Foreign Air Program

"By the 'liberation' of a country, such as Cuba, Communists mean the imposing on Cuba of a tyrannical Communist dictatorship," he said. "The whole foreign aid program is an example. For years we have been taken steadily down the road to communism by steps supposedly designed, and presented to the American people as ways of fighting communism."

Welch asserted the Communists helped devise slogans that won a third term for the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and prevented the nomination of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft at the 1952 Republican convention.

"Had Taft been nominated, he would have won by an overwhelming majority and he would have set communism back a whole generation," he told his applauding audience.

McCarthy Methods

Welch also scored critics of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, saying "there was nothing wrong with McCarthy's methods from the viewpoint of American patriots."

Welch refused to answer newsmen's questions but handed out mimeographed excerpts from his speech.

When photographers sought to take pictures of Welch after the speech, a Welch supporter poured a pitcher of ice water over a newsreel man. Another Welch fan pushed around a newsreel man's camera and snapped wires to the sound unit.

Vampire Bats Going On Exhibition at Zoo

Photographer Files Damage Suit

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A reporter for the Milwaukee Journal filed a Circuit Court suit Saturday seeking $25,000 in damages allegedly resulting from a courthouse scuffle in which a newspaper photographer's camera was taken from him.

Edward Kerstein filed the suit against Milton Diamond, a witness in an estate case, whose picture had been taken by the photographer. The incident occurred June 29, 1959 outside the courtroom of County Judge Roy Stauff.

In his complaint Kerstein charged that Diamond had willfully, maliciously and deliberately pulled his left arm and thrown him to the floor. He said he suffered strained ligaments in his left wrist and arm, sprains of both wrists and a permanent back injury.

Kerstein intervened in a dispute between Diamond and George Koschellek, a Journal photographer. Diamond later was fined $50 on a disorderly conduct charge.

Man Added to FBI's List of 'Most Wanted'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philip Alfred La Normandin, described as an accomplished trumpet player and armed robber, today was added to the FBI's list of 10 most wanted men.

La Normandin, a 54-year-old native of Providence, R. I., is currently sought in connection with an unsuccessful attempt to hold up a Reading, Mass., grocery store on April 5, 1959.

La Normandin, who has served several prison terms, is short and light weight, with dark chestnut hair and hazel eyes.

Police at Wauwatosa, Wis., a Milwaukee suburb, said La Normandin lived there for nine months, between October, 1959, and July, 1960. He worked as an oil burner repairman but apparently burglarized several homes before disappearing July 2, 1960.

Detective Roy Wellnitz of Wauwatosa said loot from three Wauwatosa homes and other articles linked with burglaries in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio were found in his room after he left.

they set out in a rented car for a weekend honeymoon at Niagara Falls.

Kennedy Will Avoid Public Commitments On Pending Proposals

Reverses Trend Established By Ike Who Commented Often

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has told Democratic congressional leaders he intends to avoid as much as possible direct public commitments on specific details involved in pending legislation.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he does not expect Kennedy—except on rare occasions—to express in letters to Congress his position on controversial amendments to "New Frontier" bills.

This would reverse a trend established by Kennedy's predecessor, Dwight D. Eisenhower, who often wrote letters to Republican leaders giving his views on matters then at issue in Congress.

So far as he is concerned, Mansfield said in an interview, he regards Kennedy's decision as a wise one.

"The President is a knowledgeable man about the operations of Congress," Mansfield said. "He recognizes that it is our responsibility to try to get his program through Congress in the form that he wants."

"I do not think it is wise for the President to be continually laying his prestige publicly on the line on the details of legislation. There is such a thing as going to the well too often. He should confine such actions to vitally important issues."

What Kennedy does behind the scenes, however, is obviously a different matter. Mansfield conceded the Democratic leader said he is not directly concerned with and has little knowledge of such activities.

"In port they will be occupied in field trips, seminars at local universities and visiting in the homes of the people of each area."

"A full college course of 15 credits will be offered for each semester's sailing."

A land-based administration will be located in the continental United States. Operational costs will be met by tuition.

Cost of Semester

The cost of a semester aboard will include tuition, board, room, passage and land arrangements.

"It will be less than a student's expenses for a year at many land-based institutions and will be pending on accommodations," the announcement says. Junior standing or a bachelor's degree will be required of students.

Officials say they have chartered the S. S. Jerusalem, "one of the most modern passenger liners afloat," from the Zim Eastern Navigation Co. of Haifa, Israel.

Photographer Files Damage Suit

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A reporter for the Milwaukee Journal filed a Circuit Court suit Saturday seeking $25,000 in damages allegedly resulting from a courthouse scuffle in which a newspaper photographer's camera was taken from him.

Edward Kerstein filed the suit against Milton Diamond, a witness in an estate case, whose picture had been taken by the photographer. The incident occurred June 29, 1959 outside the courtroom of County Judge Roy Stauff.

In his complaint Kerstein charged that Diamond had willfully, maliciously and deliberately pulled his left arm and thrown him to the floor. He said he suffered strained ligaments in his left wrist and arm, sprains of both wrists and a permanent back injury.

Kerstein intervened in a dispute between Diamond and George Koschellek, a Journal photographer. Diamond later was fined $50 on a disorderly conduct charge.

Study off Man

It will provide "a curriculum that emphasizes the study of man" and "a mobile environment for learning which takes the student to the world as a laboratory."

The "University of the Seven Seas," as it is called, got its initial sponsorship from the Whittier Rotary Club.

The trustees include three college professors, a former college president, a former school superintendent, a retired admiral, a retired U.S. department of Agriculture entomologist and a lumber company president. William T. Hughes, president of the Whittier Pipe and Supply Co., heads the trustees.

Will Visit Ports

E. Ray Nichols Jr., executive director, says the college afloat will visit ports in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

"While at sea, students will attend classes as if they were in any state-side institution," Nichols said.

Long, Cowardly Record of Lynch Crimes Shows Drastic Decrease

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Whenever sociologists gather to ponder the questions of social conscience and emotional maturity of the people of the United States, let them take a lingering look at America's lynch record. It is on the mend, this diminishing list of the most cowardly of crimes.

But, usually born of malice and bigotry and stark cowardice, the lynch "law" still rears its ugly head from time to time. The unpleasant score to date is a nasty total of 1,992 persons since 1900. Of this number, 196 were white persons and 1,796 Negroes. Obviously, most of these crimes are committed in the American South although Northern mobs have committed this atrocity, even a few in placid Wisconsin.

House But the score has improved. In 1900, there were 115 lynchings; in 1910, the number had fallen to 76; in 1920 it had been reduced to 61; in 1930, there were 21; in 1940 there were only five and since 1950 there were none.

In 1952, we set a record—there were no lynchings. Nor in 1953, 1954, 1956 and 1958. There was one in 1951; three in 1955, one in 1957 and only one in 1959 and 1960.

This strange and violent crime, peculiarly enough for all its gaudy trappings, has a somewhat mysterious background. Nobody knows with certainty the source of the word "lynch."

It is often ascribed to Col. Charles Lynch, a Virginia planter and a Revolutionary soldier. Lynch lived in a region where bands of deserters from both armies practiced plunder and harassment.

Col. Lynch organized a group of patriots and then led them in tracking down the outlaws. When captured, they could plead in their own defense but Lynch served as judge and his men served as jurors. Judgment, either fair or unfair, would be meted out on the spot.

Another Source

Another opinion as to the source of the word is that it may be taken from Lynche's Creek in South Carolina which, in 1788, was a well-known meeting place.

Utilities Fight Bill to Ban Appliance Sales

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — To legislate Wisconsin public utilities out of the appliance business would hurt the reputation of Wisconsin as a state that is interested in the welfare of business and industry, the vice president in charge of sales of Wisconsin Public Service Corp. has told the legislature.

Arnold Bur of the utility was one of many witnesses who testified a bill sponsored by some of the fundamental products appliance retailers that would make it illegal for franchised utilities to sell gas or electric appliances. The utility operates in 10,000 square miles in northeastern Wisconsin, and in many small communities offers a merchandising service that would not otherwise be available, the sales official said. Bur said to make such sales illegal for his company probably would force the lay-off of at least 200 persons.

He also warned appliance retailers that the elimination of utilities from the business would leave a vacuum that would promptly be occupied by other competitors which would not be as rigorous about observing the fair practices ideals of the retailing business as are the utilities.

The objective of the utilities' sales sideline, he said, echoing the explanations of many other utility spokesmen, is to promote the sale of more electricity and gas.

"The promotional effects of our merchandising operations are

British Take View Peiping Should be Member of U.N.

BY ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
LONDON (AP)—Despite some snubs and disagreements, the British today take the view that their diplomatic recognition of Communist China was right — and that the Peiping regime belongs in the United Nations.

In the background, Britain is bidding for a bigger share of the China market, which her oldtime merchant adventurers used to dominate.

Britain recognized the Communist government 11 years ago. Today, in the official view, there are no regrets.

Lord Home, foreign secretary, told Parliament Feb. 8 the Chinese Reds have smothered Tibet, resisted conciliation efforts and publicly proclaimed a belief in war.

But Lord Home added: "Should be Seated"

"The facts of international life require that Communist China should be seated in the United Nations."

One of those facts, in Britain's view, is that the West cannot beat back Asian - African pressures to bring Peiping into the world body.

Other pointers suggest Britain wants better relations with Red China.

Some thought has been given to the assignment of a colorful, forceful diplomat — Malcolm MacDonald, who has served for years with great success in Asia — to become ambassador in Peiping.

Press Idea

Backed by most of her Commonwealth partners, Britain intends pressing the idea that Red

China must be given a voice in future East-West talks to end the world arms race. And further, that China cannot be expected to cooperate in disarmament arrangements while she is outside the U.N.

On the surface all this may suggest Britain takes a sunny view of Peiping's readiness to work with non-Communist powers on the world's big problem.

In fact the realistic British take no such view.

They have publicly warned that Red China's rising military strength cannot be ignored by the West. London's argument goes this way:

Partial Relations

Without the day-to-day restraints implied by U.N. membership, without the need to consider the ebb and flow of world opinion, Peiping's obligation to behave is lessened.

And the more contacts the Chinese can develop with the non-Communist world, the less they will depend on Russia.

Britain's postwar government, run by the Labor Party, recognized the Communist authorities in January 1950 — three months after China's first red government was proclaimed at Peiping.

But to this day, only partial relations exist.

The two countries are represented in each other's capitals by charges d'affaires instead of ambassadors, which Britain would prefer.

The explanation attributed to the Chinese is that they are waiting for Britain to vote in support of their claim to replace Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's regime in U.N.

The Reds in fact studiously sought to underplay their diplomatic ties with Britain. It was only in 1954 that the Chinese sent a charge d'affaires to London.

British diplomats in China move around the cities and countryside — outside of closed areas — with ease. They freely report what they see. They transact daily business with the government.

In London the Chinese envoy, Huan Hsiang, is far less active. Britain over 250 years built up a huge commercial stake in China — estimated in 1950 at about a billion dollars in value. By 1952 most of the Great British merchant houses had to shut down.

Trade Has Risen

Yet commonwealth and Hong Kong trade with China has risen. In 1959-1960 it was about $590 million.

Britain's own trade with China last year formed only .7 per cent of this country's total foreign trade.

Government men estimate there is scope to double this volume — when and if the Communists resume normal trading.

For more effective negotiation with Peiping, British merchants have banded themselves into the Sino-British Trade Council. Its president, Sir William McFadzean, says:

"The Chinese are enthusiastic for real economic progress and technical advancement. As China progresses, she must face a great problem to feed, clothe and educate over 600 million people."

Honor Contracts

McFadzean asserts the Chinese have honored their contracts with the great majority of British businessmen.

This country's main exports to China are wool, chemicals, metals and machinery. It buys back dairy products, cloth, chemicals, bristles, oil seeds and tea.

The British government refuses to be coy about where its merchants buy or sell. A Board of Trade official put it this way:

"In peacetime we'll trade with the devil so long as he pays."

Yet Britain supports allied rules barring the supply of war-potential goods to Communist lands. This is resented by Peiping, which also objects to Britain's political stand on some of the great issues of the day.

The island-colony of Hong Kong, which the British acquired in 1842, still functions as a clearing house for China trade, as a port of call for the shipping lines, and as a window looking onto the mainland.

Pneumonia is inflammation of the lung tissue, maybe a mild germ or a vicious one. Walking pneumonia is a case mild enough for the patient, not necessarily wisely, to keep on going to work every day.

Glaucoma

Note to L.K.: Glaucoma is a condition which is not as a rule limited to one eye. After all, you don't necessarily become near-sighted, or far-sighted, or whatever in just one eye. Since this condition has been detected in only one eye, I think you should be pleased because it means you have found the trouble early rather than late, and there is every reason to think that treatment can control the problem or make it move so slowly that you have no reason to be fearful. Don't neglect it, but don't be afraid.

Wrong Type of Chair Can Cause Leg Pains, Cramps

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: About your article on leg cramps. I must confirm your advice to the young woman, for I had a similar experience. It's possibly more common than we have any idea.

(This letter refers to a young woman who suffered from leg cramps and customarily sat in an office chair which did not let her feet touch the floor. The advice was to get a lower chair, or get a stool or box or something to rest her feet on.)

"About 14 years ago I bought a second-hand swivel chair, one with a high back, I had always wanted for my desk.

"Being a minister and doing a lot of writing, I usually write longhand on a clip board, sitting sideways, with my right leg over my left. But I never, for three or four years, related the twinges to my shutting off the circulation just above the knee.

Was Soviet Man in Space Really Hoax?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Was the Soviet stunt in outer space, as announced officially from Moscow, a hoax? Granted that something went around the earth, was a man really in it, or did the astronaut merely make a separate flight similar to that which an American astronaut, Joseph Albert Walker, recently made in an X-15 rocket plane at an altitude of 32 miles?

These questions are being asked by scientists because there are some obvious discrepancies in the boastful accounts of his trip given by Major Gagarin.

First of all, Gagarin says he was over South America eleven minutes after he started. This couldn't be right and the tracking data collected by Americans tells the story of this gross exaggeration.

Second, Gagarin says he came down by parachute. It is now being inferred by a Russian scientist that the satellite may actually have glided to the earth.

Major Gagarin, in his first interview, said:

While flying over Soviet territory I saw perfectly great squares of collective farms. It was possible to distinguish between plowed land and grass land."

"Slits" Portholes?

The Russian major declared how he saw all this through portholes but it isn't clear whether this vehicle had portholes. In fact Dr. Anatoli A. Blagonravov, a noted Russian scientist, interviewed ed at Rome at an international space symposium, said at first that there were no portholes in the ship but later declared there were "slits."

Can the human eye really see 200 miles away through portholes or "slits"? It might distinguish large formations such as the lines on the moon but it seems incredible that Major Gagarin could have seen anything as relatively small as meadows or fields such as he described.

Christopher Shawcross, chairman of the British section of the International Institute of Space Law, is quoted in a Reuter's dispatch from London as saying a protest had been launched with the International Aeronautical Federation in Paris against an attempt by the Moscow government to seek registration of the space flight as an altitude record for man. He said the published evidence of the flight was not credible.

Puzzling Aspects

Walter Sullivan, a science writer for the New York Times, says in an article published over the weekend:

"Three days after man's first space flight there are still several puzzles concerning the circumstances of the trip. They pertain to its timing, the presence or absence of portholes in the manned capsule and the manner in which the occupant returned to earth."

"The timetable issued in Moscow said the vehicle had reached the sky over South America within 15 minutes. However there is no point in Soviet territory from which an orbiting vehicle could come close to South America in so short a time."

There's another mysterious aspect. The "Daily Worker," a Communist newspaper in London published an article on the flight before it was officially announced as having happened. The article spoke on April 7 of the flight as having already occurred when it wasn't announced or tracked by American observing stations as in orbit until five days later. The Communist newspaper revealed that the astronaut, son of a Soviet plane designer, was under medical care. Later on Russian scientists in Moscow denied that the earlier flight had occurred.

Some Possibilities

The Soviets are past masters at deception. It could be that they did have a man in flight and that the stunt failed. Not to be denied their laurels the Communists may have substituted the experience of

A banner for an accident-free record for 1960 was presented Wednesday to the Appletan F. W. Means and Co., organization by the company. From left are D. K. one of their high-flying airmen who may have simulated the kind of altitude venture which the American, Joseph Albert Walker, achieved with his X-15 rocket plane. The sensations experienced might well have been identical with those encountered by a man in orbit. After all to go 32 miles into the air might bring exactly the same sensations and perhaps the same view of the earth and even perhaps some observation of meadows and fields similar to those exultantly described by Major Gagarin.

It probably is true that the Russians sent a satellite around the earth in 90 minutes. America has done this too. It is also probably true that Major Gagarin went high into the air. But whether he traveled around the earth as claimed or merely achieved a high altitude in the air, remains an unsolved mystery.

Just why would the Russians concoct the story if it isn't entirely true? One answer is that the Communists have no morals—they regard lying as a legitimate device in national and international policies. Just now it is important for Nikita Khrushchev to divert the attention of the Russian people from their hardships and to appeal to their national pride. History records that the czars of another era also engaged in huge spectacles, parades and displays to impress the people and cause them to forget or put aside their woes.

The Communists have much to explain. Scientists throughout the

Two Students Essay Winners

Will Receive Bonds In State Contest On the Handicapped

Two Fox Cities high school students have been named winners in a state-wide essay contest on the employment of the physical handicapped sponsored by the governor's committee.

Marge Costello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Costello, 612 Keyes St., Menasha, a junior at St. Mary High School will receive a $75 savings bond for third place, and Dawn Mae Lueck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lueck, 2555 Frederick St., Appleton, a junior at Fox Valley Lutheran High School, will receive the fourth place prize, a $50 savings bond.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson will present the awards at a luncheon Monday at the Madison Eagles Club.

First Place Winner

First place winner was George M. Kuemeyer Jr. a senior at Milwaukee Marquette High School. First prize is a $150 savings bond and a $200 cash award from the Wisconsin AFL-CIO to attend the April 27-28 meeting of the President's committee on employment of the physically handicapped.

All ten winners of savings bonds also will receive certificates signed by the President and Gov. Nelson.

More than 600 essays were entered in the state contest and an estimated 7,800 Wisconsin high school juniors and seniors wrote on the subject "Jobs For the Handicapped — A Community Challenge."

The Threat to Berlin

A communique from the recent meeting of Warsaw Pact members in Moscow included the usual demand for free-city status for West Berlin and a peace treaty between East and West Germany. This sort of thing has been going on since Khrushchev made his famous demands with a time limit of a few months. But the tough line taken by the United States toward the demands so far has paid off.

Khrushchev originally threatened to sign a separate treaty with East Germany and draw out all Russian troops with the indication that this meant the East Germans immediately would attack Berlin. A summit meeting was arranged. It collapsed after President Eisenhower went to Paris. But the demands upon Berlin somehow were conveniently lost in the shuffle. The Soviet Union obviously does not want to get out on such a long limb again unless there is a better chance that the west will fall for the maneuver.

There were many voices raised in this country to accede to the Russian demands. The danger of war with the Soviet Union was the biggest fear-maker but doubts concerning West Germany's honorable intentions also were visible. Chancellor Adenauer's influence upon the west was played up as dangerous and strange. Mayor Willy Brandt's backing of the western point of view was regarded as breaking with his opposition party. A neutral corridor in Europe was advocated with a bland ignoring of the distances planes and missiles travel. The danger of East Germany opening fire upon western troops and our reliance upon nuclear weapons was emphasized.

West Berlin still is not out of danger. East Germany is as thoroughly controlled by the Communists as ever. But those who are terrified lest the Russian bear be roused to anger and attack should review what happened in the Berlin crisis. East German passport regulations were not accepted by the west and eventually were withdrawn. No new time limit has been set for the recognition of East Germany. The Soviet Union has made no move to get out. There is increasing suspicion that Russia, indeed, does not dare to leave any of the satellites, not after the riots in East Germany and Poland, or the revolt in Hungary.

If the peace treaties with East Germany had been drawn as Russia advocated and the area of detachment through the continent of Europe had been set up, we might expect quite a different set of demands from the Warsaw Pact meeting this time. It would be concerning alleged violations in the area which might demand the presence of Soviet troops. Or it would charge that the free-city government of Berlin really was acting in the interests of the west so that East Germany, now duly recognized, would have to take it over. After all, it would be disgraceful that a sovereign nation didn't have authority over the major city within its borders! There would be time limits set upon western compliance.

Berlin still is in danger. There is continuing tension in Germany. Our strategic air force still is needed.

But the whole Berlin crisis affair should have taught us another lesson in diplomacy when dealing with the Communists. It is only through firmness, determination and principle, with no sign of fear, that we can ever hope to halt their advance or eventually to turn them back.

Wisconsin's Debt Limitation

The Senate Judiciary Committee, after studying the constitutional amendment which would permit the state of Wisconsin to go into debt for the construction of buildings, decided to send the joint resolution to the Senate without recommendation. As might have been expected, the Senate killed the measure after two days of debate.

The present state constitution has a debt limitation of $100,000 which is practically the same as forbidding all indebtedness. Gov. Nelson long has advocated increasing this limitation so that the state might borrow money for the construction of buildings with the "full faith and credit" of the state supporting the loans and thus probably winning a lower interest rate.

In spite of the committee's failure to support the resolution, the legislature had here an excellent opportunity to do something constructive. Had the resolution been approved by both the Assembly and the Senate there would have been a two-year period for study of the proposal. The people of Wisconsin generally have very little interest in whether this proposal came from a Democratic governor or a Republican governor. They are or should be much interested in whether it will be financially advantageous for the state to borrow money on its full faith and credit or whether it should continue its makeshift policy of borrowing through dummy corporations for this purpose. Many people acknowledging that there might be a slight advantage in permitting the state to borrow on its full credit have entertained the notion that the present dummy corporation plan tends to hold down the extent of the borrowing. This is not necessarily true but the legislature could find out something about it during the next two years if it decided to do so.

This appears to be a question where a study committee of the legislature could, through the use of financial attorneys and accountants, turn up some very interesting facts. There is little use to argue about such a matter without the aid of experts. The Wisconsin legislature might have done the people of Wisconsin some good by making a thorough investigation and reporting back in time to decide on whether to submit this matter to the people in two years.

Mr. Sobocinski's Triumph

When the assembly in Madison the other day took up the proposed constitutional amendment to permit counties to employ other forms than the county board form of government, it was perhaps inevitable that the forces of reform would be defeated. This is a difficult matter to popularize. Although it seems evident to us that the time will come when basic county government reforms will be demanded by the people, that time is not yet at hand.

But the incident at Madison betrayed something about the legislative process, nevertheless, that should have the attention of thoughtful citizens. One revelation was the unpardonable arrogance of a Milwaukee representative named Sherman Sobocinski.

Mr. Sobocinski now is serving his third term in the legislature from a Milwaukee urban district. Two years ago when his Democratic party was in control of the lower house he was given the chairmanship of a standing committee, which is a mark of a legislator's regard in his party, and later the command of an interim committee to study the problems of county government and the avenues of improvement that have been suggested to the legislature. That committee spent a good deal of time and money for its expenses drawn from the state treasury, money of hundreds of witnesses who traveled from their homes and offices to testify at its hearings.

But two years later Mr. Sobocinski could stand up on the floor of the assembly and with a complacent smirk acknowledge that his committee had not yet prepared a report, and to hint, with a kind of a wink, that he didn't know when it would file a report because he had not yet gotten around to calling it into final session and had no present intention of doing so.

Mr. Sobocinski, it will be remembered, is a representative of a district that is within a county that decades ago asked for and got authority to set up a special kind of county board in recognition of its peculiar local problems. He is the representative of a county that a couple of years ago, got special legislation to set up a county executive—again in recognition of the unique problems of a metropolitan county.

Yet on the floor he can make jokes about the advocates of equivalent reforms for other changing counties in the state, and with apparent impunity announce that he intends to sabotage the report of a special study group he was trusted to guide as chairman.

These are the clownish exhibitions in Madison that may be at the root of the seeming indifference of otherwise thoughtful persons toward the demand of Milwaukee County for more legislative representation in accordance with population trends. These gaucheries may also help to explain how Mr. Sobocinski's party, after one short term of control in the state assembly, lost it to the Republicans in the first succeeding test of popular judgment of its performance.

Speling Reform Trading Trubls for New Ons for Shur

From The Wichita Evening Eagle and Beacon

A hardy perennial among ideas that never come to anything is the plea for a reform in English spelling. Reform advocates, who have included some mighty names in their camp, claim phonetic English would produce more benefits than a cancer cure. A recent pitch is that Russian has been phoneticized, increasing the Soviet threat to the American way.

We have no doubt these people mean well, but spelling reform has as much chance as a jackass in the Kentucky Derby.

One reform, of course, would be dropping silent letters; but the reformers forget that the silent letter sometimes performs a vital function. How would one distinguish the metal "led" from the verb "led," for instance? It is said some letters have up to eight pronunciations. The new system would turn each letter to on-

But what would we do for intermediate vowel sounds? No, we would be trading our present troubles for new ones.

Besides the obvious objections of immense cost, semantic confusion, and general chaos which Newspeak would cause, consider the richness of the English language. Can anyone conceive the Old Testament in phonetics? "Ryz up, mi lux, my fare wun, and kum away. For lo, the wintz is past, the rane is ovr and gon; the flows aper on the urth."

But why go on? If we want to reduce the language of Shakespeare, Swift, Melville, Whitman, Poe, Emerson, Wolfe and Men-

State Men Called to War

106 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for April 18, 1861.

Madison, April 16 — The following proclamation was issued this morning.

To the Loyal Citizens of Wisconsin:

For the first time in the history of the federal government, organized treason has manifested itself within several States of the Union, and armed rebels are making war against it.

The Proclamation of the President of the United States tells of the unlawful combinations too powerful to be suppressed in the ordinary manner, and calls for military forces to suppress such combinations and to sustain him in executing the laws. The treasury must no longer be plundered; the public properties must be protected. That already seized must be retaken, and the laws must be enforced in every State of the Union alike.

Regiment Needed

A demand made upon the State of Wisconsin by the President of the United States for aid to sustain the federal army must meet with a prompt response. One regiment of the militia of this State will be required for immediate service, and further service will be required as the exigencies of Government demand.

'Tis a time when against the civil and religious liberties of the people, and against the government of the U.S., parties and politicians must be dust in the balance. All good citizens everywhere must join, making common cause against a common enemy.

Opportunities will be immediately offered to existing military companies under the direction of proper authorities of the State for enlistment to fulfill the military demands of the federal government; and I hereby invite the patriotic citizens of this State to enroll themselves into companies of 75 men each, and to advise the Executive of their readiness to be mustered into service immediately. Detailed instructions will be furnished on the acceptance of companies, and commissioned officers of each regiment will nominate their own field officers.

In times of public danger, bad men grow bold and reckless. The property of the citizen becomes unsafe, and both the public and private rights are liable to be jeopardized.

I enjoin on all administrative and peace officers of the State renewed vigilance and execution of the laws, and in guarding against the exigencies leading to disorder among the people.

Governor's Chair In Carley's Future?

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The publicity staying power of youthful David Carley of the state department of resource development is one of the noteworthy side-lights of current state politics.

Scarce is anyone in the statehouse below the rank of the governor gets quite as much public attention as does this young man who was brought into state service two years ago to fill what Gov. Nelson regarded as one of the colonelcies in his forces.

The reasons are readily apparent. He is a controversial personality in a controversial department. He likes publicity and not only does not discourage it but actively encourages it. Carley would no more dream of leaving town to make a speech in North Overlook, Wis., without distributing an advance press release than he would avoid using a pedantic word in that speech text where a simpler one would do.

Wyngaard

to be the source of benevolent propaganda.

The difficulty, from the standpoint of opposing politicians, is that this service program is an inherently difficult one to audit. Carley speaks eloquently about research, and planning, and coordination and other concepts equally intangible as far as the hard requirements of political debate go. There is a suspicion among his enemies that he is a grand boondoggler, in reality, but some of his publicity sounds pretty good nevertheless.

It is when Carley defines his terms and isolates his claims—as in his recent report on specific industrial expansions—that he is inviting trouble. This is the sort of thing that any state administration is likely to do—but it is better done in general terms—as Republican governors used to do.

FOR GOVERNOR?

Carley thrives on publicity and political attention, as perhaps would other young and ambitious men in his position.

Today he is acknowledging cheerfully that there is some substance to the repeated gossip in political quarters that he wants to run for governor. He will run, in fact, if Gov. Nelson doesn't run for a third term, and if there appears to be any shortage of alternative talent in 1962, he says.

All this sounds a little brash, even to those Democrats who are realistically aware of the scarcity of their first class candidate timber and who know something of the ebullience of this state official.

But Carley can probably rationalize it. If he had not been brash he would probably remain today reading bulletins in the back room of the Chamber of Commerce offices, or handling a freshman quiz section in a small college with his fresh doctor of philosophy degree. There were those who smiled when others sat down to file their nomination papers for high office in Wisconsin lately.

Lightning Does Much Harm, but Its Good Is Often Forgotten

From The National Geographic Society

Everybody knows the harm that lightning does. The good is often forgotten.

Yet without lightning, life might not exist in its present form. Man requires plants for his basic food. Plants require nitrogen, and through a complex set of circumstances they depend on lightning to provide it, the National Geographic Society says.

Nitrogen makes up 80 per cent of the air. About 22 million tons of it float over each square mile of the earth. Weather Bureau officials estimate. But gaseous nitrogen is insoluble in water. Plants can't use the gas—until lightning does its work.

Causes Acid Smell

The heat of a lightning bolt causes nitrogen to combine with oxygen. The nitrogen oxides dissolve in rain, forming dilute nitric acid that gives air its piquant odor during a storm. The acid reacts with minerals in the earth to form plant-nourishing nitrates.

As the world's greatest fertilizer manufacturer, lightning turns out about 100 million tons of fixed nitrogen a year. Figured at $300 a ton, the annual output is worth about $30,000,000,000.

Lightning's blessings may not stop there. Some meteorologists believe lightning helps cloud droplets coalesce into raindrops. Thus, it may help plants get water, too.

Terrifying Fashion

Admittedly, however, the good deeds are done in terrifying fashion. Moving 30,000 times faster than a bullet, lightning starts some 27,500 fires a year in the United States alone and kills hundreds of people.

As an executioner, it short-circuits the nervous system, which operates by weak electrical currents, and causes various organs to stop functioning. Artificial respiration can sometimes revive a victim.

Possessed of awesome force, a single flash of lightning could supply an average home with electric power for 35 years. The bolt heats the channel of air through which it passes to 50,000 degrees centigrade, and it can vaporize metal objects. One stroke hit a woman's gold bracelet; she was unhurt, but the only trace of the bracelet left was a smudge around her wrist.

Such freakish events are typical. Lightning killed all the black sheep in a field at Lap-leaux, France, but didn't scorch a hair of the white sheep in the same flock. Another bolt hit a church belfry in Frostburg, Maryland, and short-circuited an electrical chimes mechanism. The town awakened to a predawn recital of "Jesus Is Tenderly Calling" and other recorded hymns.

Originates in Atoms

Lightning originates in the tiny atoms that compose air. Each atom has a normal complement of electrons, the negatively charged particles that orbit around the nucleus just as planets revolve around the sun. The electrons balance the positively charged protons in the nucleus.

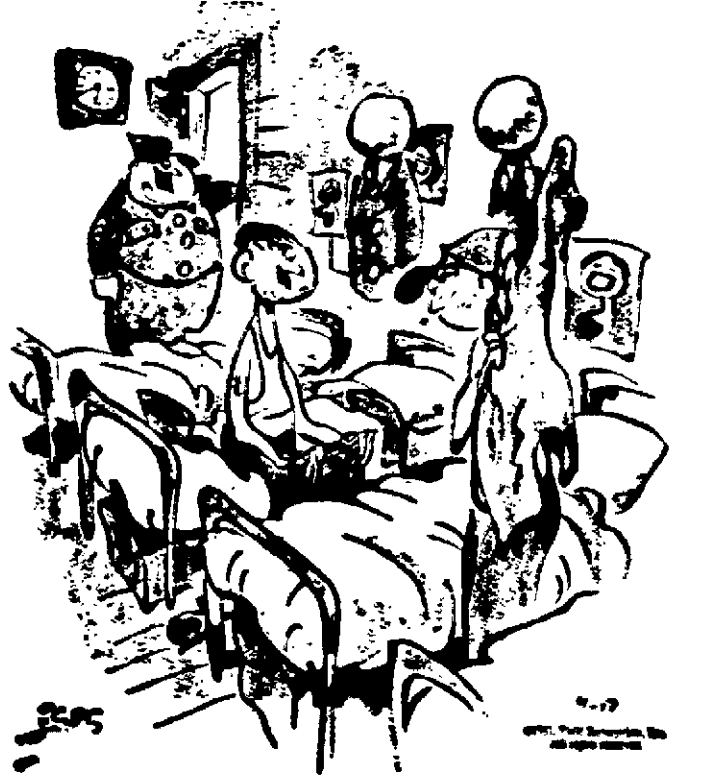

Sometimes an atom loses an electron. This gives it a net positive charge. Or it may gain an electron and become charged negatively. Charged atoms are called ions. When they have the same charge, they repel each other, but with different charges they attract each other.

For reasons which meteorologists still do not fully understand, positively charged ions tend to collect in certain parts of the atmosphere while negatively charged ions collect in other parts. This creates unstable situations, which a flash of electricity corrects.

The flash causes oxygen and nitrogen atoms to radiate visible light, like the neon gas in a glass tube. Combinations of the spectra of oxygen and nitrogen give a white light. When water vapor is present, the spectrum of hydrogen is added and the lightning may be reddish or pinkish. Dust may cause yellow or red flashes. Occasionally violet or green lightning is reported.

Republicans may press Gov. Nelson to call a special election to fill the vacancy in the state senate that will result from the nomination of Sen. Brennan as U.S. district attorney for the eastern district of the state.

When the Governor's Commission on Human Rights drafted its bill several months ago to strengthen the denial of rights prohibitions in Wisconsin law, one of the state senators who consented to sign the legislation was Sen. Leo P. O'Brien of Green Bay.

Young Tax Chief Considered 'Available' for Political Office

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — John Gronouski, the young state commissioner of taxation, has taken the limelight more persistently than most of his associates among the chief administrators of the state government.

While Republican legislative leaders were firing at him for what they called confounding his political loyalties to the Democrats with his duties as a state officer, Democratic insiders were speculating about Gronouski as a future candidate for the governorship.

Gronouski is perfectly aware that his tenure as head of the state tax department won't long survive the arrival of a Republican governor. He has become more active in judicial campaigns. Gronouski has been a contributor to the Democratic party rallies. That is interpreted by Democratic leaders as an oblique suggestion of his "availability" for elective politics, perhaps as a candidate for governor.

Exiles Say 3 Waves Of Invaders Landed

swamp area on the south coast, and in Oriente Province.

The main assault, he said, appears to be centered in the swamp area.

Little Opposition

Novins said the Oriente landings appeared to be largely unopposed and were accomplished mainly by infiltration.

But those in the Matanzas area brought heavy fighting with Castro's militia, he continued.

Castro's regime charged before the United Nations that the invaders were armed and financed by the United States.

A Dutch airliner could not land at Havana. The pilot was told all Cuban airports were closed.

Communications Cut

Telephone and telegraph communications with Cuba were cut off early today, shortly after a Cuban army officer confirmed one landing on the south coast.

The Cuban government radio was heard summoning all people's militia units to report at once to their stations.

One source representing Cuban exiles in the United States said Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, the rebel leader who broke with Castro over communist influence in Cuba, was heading for Cuba. But his public relations chief in New York said he had not reached there.

One landing, on the south coast, was confirmed by a Cuban officer before the island nation 90 miles off the U. S. shore cut communications.

The officers said a force of unknown size had landed at Playa Larga, about 100 miles southeast of Havana, and fighting had broken out. Near Playa Larga is an air strip and the naval station at Cienfuegos.

Defection Reported

Rebel sources in the United States said some military units had joined the invaders, possibly from the naval station, where defections from Castro's ranks have been reported in recent weeks.

Cuban sources in Washington said another force landed unopposed at Baracoa, in Oriente Province. Baracoa, at the eastern end of Cuba controls a road leading toward the U. S. Naval base at Guantanamo. These informants said Santiago, capital of Oriente Province, may already be in the invaders' hands.

The third force was said to have hit the beaches at Cabanas, in Pinar del Rio province in the western extremity of the island.

A rebel source in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., said the landing forces had been waiting off the coasts of Cuba for 15 days. This informant, Rafael Garcia Navarro, predicted 5,000 exile troops will be in battle before the day is over.

A statement by Miro Cardona was issued in New York announcing the battle of liberation had begun. Council members in Washington said the statement had been prepared in advance and that Miro Cardona actually left New York Sunday.

"Everything looks fine," said a council spokesman in Washington. "This is the beginning of the end."

The exiles said there were unconfirmed reports of street fighting in Havana but last press reports direct from Havana said the capital was quiet.

Moscow radio called the invasion "armed intervention," implying the attack came from the United States. There was no mention of Premier Khrushchev's old pledge, later watered down, to help defend Cuba with force if a highly placed official in Washington said the U. S. government is sympathetic to the anti-Castro effort but will follow a strict hands-off policy.

Castro's people's militia of workers and peasants had been on an invasion alert since defecting Cuban pilots bombed and strafed three targets in Cuba Saturday.

In a speech shortly before the invasion report was issued by a military duty officer in Cuba, Prime Minister Fidel Castro once more accused the United States of aggression in connection with Saturday's attacks.

The military duty officer at Jaguey la Grande said some fighting was going on between "government defenders and an insurgent landing force" at Playa Larga. The area is near Cienaga Oriental, a giant swamp area southeast of Havana that Castro has planned to convert into a farm and resort area.

Reports Fighting

The duty officer at Jaguey la Grande, which is north of the beach, said only that "some fighting" was going on, indicating that the size of the invading force was small.

Columbia Broadcasting System in a report from Miami said several hundred rebel troops were in a force that invaded three Cuban provinces and that two high ranking officers in Castro's army had defected to the rebels. The report said the seaborne invaders had aerial support.

Miro Cardona's statement said: "Before dawn, Cuban patriots in the cities and in the hills began the battle to liberate our homeland from the despotic rule of Fidel Castro and rid Cuba of international communism's cruel oppression."

Miro Cardona made no mention of a seaborne landing and earlier reports from Havana mentioned only the usual sporadic guerrilla activity in the Cuban hills.

Long Planning

The rebel chieftain, a former prime minister of Cuba, declared "today's historic action is the result of long months of planning and effort by Cubans who once before risked their lives against tyranny."

"These fighting patriots now take up the uncompleted task of rescuing their revolution so cynically betrayed. They represent all walks of life and all social groups. During many months contact with elements in the Cuban military system has been maintained by various revolutionary groups and now these silent warriors are carrying out tasks assigned them by the revolutionary command."

He declared the rebels had one supreme goal: "The final restoration of Cuban liberty."

Wants Airmen Questioned

Moscow radio took up the Castro cry that the strafing and bombing of three military airfields in Cuba Saturday was "an act of armed aggression on the part of the United States against the peace-loving Cuban people."

In a speech Sunday, Castro challenged the U. S. government to back up claims that defecting Cuban Air Force pilots staged the air raids. His charge of U. S. aggression was carried to the United Nations by the Cuban representatives.

Castro demanded that President Kennedy bring to the United Nations the three airmen who landed in Miami and Key West after the attack.

Speaking at burial services for seven of the eight persons killed in the air raid, Castro accused the U. S. government yesterday of financing the dawn air attack and likened it to the Pearl Harbor attack of 1941.

At his most violent pitch in

The Map Locates the Area of a reported invasion on the south coast of Cuba today. A rebel force reportedly landed on the south coast of Matanzas Province near the Cienaga Oriental, a large swamp area. Other invasions were reported to the east and west.

months, the Cuban prime minister raged that American aggressions against Cuba were born of resentment "because we have made a socialist revolution right under the nose of the United States."

"Cuba was attacked with Yankee planes, with Yankee bombs, with Yankee arms and with mercenaries paid by the Yankee Central Intelligence Agency," the prime minister cried hoarsely.

Castro cited the U2 spy plane incident and said the United States "has no right to the least prestige nor the least respect in the world."

He pointed out that Washington had to retract its original denial that the U2 was on a spy mission over Europe once the Russians revealed they had the pilot, Francis Gary Powers, and he had confessed.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa was expected to repeat Castro's challenge to produce the pilots in debate at the United Nations today on Cuba's charge of U. S. aggression.

Castro's enemies at home continued to show defiance of his pledge to wipe out terrorists. Two bombs exploded in the Havana suburbs during the night. Where they went off and what damage they did was not known at once.

said was that the Soviets want to start negotiations for a permanent settlement before the fighting is ended; the United States and Britain have rejected such timing as a communist device for stalling off a truce.

On other issues, Rusk said: "The United States is sympathetic with the struggle of anti-Castro Cubans but it regards the fight as a struggle between Cubans and there will be no intervention by Americans."

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's idea that there are no neutral men in the cold war would set back a very long way the world's search for peaceful settlement of disputes. Rusk was told by a questioner that Khrushchev had expressed this idea in an interview with columnist Walter Lippmann.

U. S.-British negotiations with Russia at Geneva for an agreement on banning tests of nuclear weapons will continue because the Western powers want to find out from the Soviets what the key issues are. Rusk gave that explanation when pressed as to why the talks should go on in view of indications that Russia will continue to insist on a test ban control system which the West has called totally unacceptable.

Several ways may be employed by the United States and its Atlantic allies to improve the unity of NATO. These will be discussed at the forthcoming NATO foreign ministers conference at Oslo, Norway.

5. President Kennedy can be expected to discuss with French President Charles de Gaulle the problems of De Gaulle's attitude toward NATO and toward the United Nations. De Gaulle has been critical of the U.N. and has refused to pay the French share of its financial requirements. He wants to make sweeping changes in NATO.

an ambulance. Larry's ambulance attendants called Appleton City police, who in turn called the Winnebago County sheriff's department.

Edward Derks, 54, the other bartender, told police he was behind the bar when the shooting took place.

Police said Derks had put the gun back into the kitchen drawer by the time they arrived.

Police quoted Derks as saying he knew there was only one shell in the .32 caliber revolver.

Ronald Fulcer lives at 131 S. Oneida St., Appleton. Derks lives at the tavern on County Trunk P.

Daniel Fulcer is survived by his wife, two sons, mother, three brothers, and four sisters.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 10 a.m. in St. Mary's Catholic Church, with burial in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Governor to Call Special Session

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Gov. Elmer Andersen has called a special session of the Minnesota Legislature for April 24 to enact tax and appropriations measures it failed to agree on during the regular 90-day session.

Legislators expressed disappointment at the delay. Many had indicated they hoped the special session would start Tuesday after the windup of the regular session today.

The Senate, which was all set to debate a three per cent sales tax proposal when it became known that the special session would be called, decided to delay action until the special session.

The governor said he believed the week between the regular and special session would give lawmakers "sorely needed rest" and an opportunity to find out how the people want the revenue problem solved.

He also indicated he would like to tour the state to get a sampling of public reaction, especially to the revenue problem.

Cease-Fire Issue

The chief stumbling block was the Western insistence that a cease-fire must precede any major conference on Laos. Other Communist nations have been arguing for an immediate international conference to work out a cease-fire, an arrangement strongly opposed by the United States.

The Soviet Union, in its first reaction to the British proposal agreed in principle that a cease-fire should be called but hedged on the timing. The West was suspicious that the Soviets were delaying so that the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels in Laos could gain as much territory as possible before being brought to the conference table.

Bar, Home Damaged By Bomb in Italy

BOLZANO, Italy (AP)—A bar and adjoining residence were damaged Sunday in a pre-dawn bombing which police called one of the most serious so far in the turbulent Italian South Tyrol. No one was hurt.

There have been a dozen bombings in the last several months in the territory, where Austria contends German-language residents are not being given a fair deal.

Umpire Jocko Conlan and Los Angeles Dodger Coach Leo Durocher take turns kicking each other in the shins Sunday. The scuffle in the LA Coliseum started when Conlan called a high pop-up off the bat of Norm Larker a foul ball. The Dodgers won the ball game, 13-6. The Pirates' catcher, Hal Smith, sits calmly in background.

Umpire Conlan and Durocher Come Out Even in Kicking Duel

27,716 Spectators Astonished at 'Shin Battle'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jocko Conlan today holds the distinction of being the only umpire that Leo Durocher ever got a boot out of. Durocher made his return to baseball official Sunday by getting into a beef where footwork was the essence of the fight. For there in the Coliseum, in full view of 27,716 astonished witnesses, a major league umpire and a major league coach came to blows—with their feet. It started with an innocent-looking pop-up by Dodger first baseman Norm Larker in the fourth inning of the Los Angeles-Pittsburgh game. The ball landed in fair ground between home plate and first base, then bounced foul. Conlan, holding that no one touched it in fair territory, called it a foul ball.

dirt on him and then he kicked me in the shins. I kicked him in the shins, he kicked me back, and I kicked him back.

Jocko knew he had blown the play because all of us saw Hal Smith touch Larker's ball before it rolled foul."

Covington Will Open Against Phils Tuesday

Dressen Seeks More Punch In the Outfield

CHICAGO (AP)—Manager Charlie Dressen announced Sunday that Wes Covington, the burly Milwaukee Braves outfielder limited to a pair of pinchhit appearances this season, will be back in left field. "We have to find someone who can punch over some runs for us," Dressen said after the contest with the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field was snowed out. "Lee Maye isn't hitting and Covington might be able to do the job for us." Maye has only one hit in eight trips to the plate for a dismal .125 average.

At Philadelphia Dressen said Covington would be on the job when the Braves help the Philadelphia Phillies open their home season Tuesday night.

"Covington should be able to do all right in the Philly park," Dressen said. "The fence in right field is a good target for him and if he goes left he has even less distance to cover."

Dressen indicated, however, that if Covington doesn't rap in a run now and then he'll be back on the bench. Al Spangler is expected to continue in centerfield although John DeMerit will probably be put in that spot and Mel Roach in left when the Milwaukee batters face a southpaw pitcher, Dressen said.

Dressen said he was disappointed in the pitching displayed by Carl Willey in the 9-5 loss to the Cubs. "That boy was just plain slider crazy," Dressen said. "He forgot he had a curve and a changeup pitch that he could use. I was going to take him out at the end of the game."

Versalles' Homer Wins Second Tilt

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wait 'til the Minnesota Twins see Minnesota. The precocious Twins haven't even seen their new home yet but they're sniffing the heady air of first place in the American League standings.

Bob Allison, an accepted slugger, and Zoilo Versalles, supposedly a glove man, boosted the Twins into the league lead with their home runs in Sunday's double victory over Baltimore. Thus the Twins were assured of a raucous welcome home Friday afternoon.

Allison drove in seven runs with a grand slam homer and a three-run homer in the 10-5 first game and Versalles, the 20-year-old Cuban shortstop, won the second

Allison game 6-4 with his two-run homer in the 11th.

While the old Washington club moved west was flexing its muscles the new Washington Senators were settling into the cellar after a 3-2 defeat by Cleveland. The Indians, shut out for eight innings by Dick Donovan, rose up in the ninth with five straight hits, including a home run by Tito Francona.

Rain, cold weather and snow washed out the scheduled double-headers between New York and Kansas City, Los Angeles and Boston and a single game between Chicago and Detroit.

Had a Ball Allison really had himself a ball in the first game at Baltimore. Chuck Estrada, who reportedly has arm trouble, walked the first three men he faced. Allison followed with his grand slammer. Allison hit another homer in the sixth with two men on base.

Pedro Ramos, far off the form he showed in shutting out New York on opening day, gave up 12 of the Orioles' 14 hits before he was replaced by Ray Moore in the seventh. Pedro, however, was the winner.

Bill Pleis, third of four Minnesota pitchers, won the second game on Versalles' homer, following a walk to Renato Bertio. It was Versalles' fourth hit in six trips in the game and his second major league homer. The 150-pound shortstop, a .133 hitter in 15 games last year, now is batting

Years of Frustration End for Black Hawks

Wallop Wings To Capture Stanley Cup

DETROIT (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks, following years of struggle and frustration, today have the Stanley Cup, hockey's symbol of supremacy.

They regained the coveted cup for the first time in 23 years by walloping the Detroit Red Wings 5-1 Sunday night to win the best-of-seven playoff series four-to-two.

The Hawks had finished in the National Hockey League basement nine times in 11 seasons before they began building their present team in 1957-58. The present season, when they finished third, was their first winning season in 15 years.

The Hawks made the finals by dethroning five-times champion Montreal in the semifinals and then scored three home victories over Detroit before finishing off the Red Wings with a three-goal spurt in the final period Sunday night.

They started off their championship victory in an odd manner. Trailing 1-0 in the second period the Hawks found themselves short-handed because of a penalty.

Reg Fleming, ace penalty killer, intercepted a Red Wing pass and scored the tying goal. Ab McDonald added another late in the second period and Detroit never recovered.

Goals by Eric Nesterenko, Jack Evans and Kenny Wharram wrapped it up in the final period. Evans' goal was his first in two years.

Laver Beats Emerson for Championship

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Rod Laver, a freckled Australian of 22 years, will take the River Oaks tennis trophy out of the country for the first time.

Laver beat fellow Australian Roy Emerson in the River Oaks finals Sunday, 7-5, 7-5, 1-6, 6-3.

Laver's powerful volleys and sharp placements left him even with Emerson, who beat Laver in four sets in the Australian finals in January. Laver's placements drew applause from Emerson on three occasions.

Bernard Bartzen, America's No. 1 ranked player and fourth-seeded player in the 27th Oaks tournament, was defeated in the first round.

Dodgers Post Stormy 13 to 6 Decision Over Pittsburgh

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Billy O'Dell with the bases loaded and only one out, O'Dell promptly got Bobby Del Greco, wise baseball men asked the big question. Can a rookie manager get this gang to pull together?

Dark has provided strong evidence in one short week that he is capable of taking charge. The Giants are leading the National League and Dark is making all the right moves.

Take Sunday's game with Philadelphia for example. Sam Jones always beats the Phillies. He has a 21-9 record against them over the years. He was going for his seventh straight at their expense when he ran into a wild streak and some errors in the ninth.

Dark went to the bullpen for Ray Sadecki pitched St. Louis to within a half game of the top with a 5-3 edge over Cincinnati. Milwaukee and Chicago were snowed out at Chicago.

Rain and cold weather slashed five games off the American League schedule, washing out doubleheaders between Kansas City and New York and Los Angeles and Boston. Cold weather called off the Chicago-Detroit game. Minnesota's surprising Twins moved into the American lead by downing Baltimore twice, 10-5, and 6-4 in 11 innings. Cleveland edged Washington 3-2.

Jones contributed two doubles to the Giants' 10-hit attack on loser Robin Roberts and two successors. He was coasting along with a 5-1 lead going to the ninth. Sad Sam struck out Tony Gonzalez on a wild pitch but Gonzalez reached first base before Catcher Tom Haller could retrieve the ball. A wild pitch and a single by Pancho Herrera counted a run. Space Heater May Have Started Blaze in Maywood Park Stables

Three Men and 42 Horses Die In Illinois Fire

CHICAGO (AP) — A pre-dawn blaze roared through two Maywood Park stables west of Chicago Sunday, killing three men and 42 horses.

One of the victims reportedly led several animals to safety before dying in the blaze.

Thirty trotters and pacers were saved from the burning barns and 40 others were moved when flames threatened adjacent stalls. A 20 m.p.h. wind drove flames through tinder-dry hay, the Grand Circuit, offers $800 to $1,000 purses for each of 16 races.

Fire officials said one of the six nights a week Allen said the racing program would resume tonight.

The worst track fire in recent years killed 68 horses in Douglas Park, Louisville, Oct. 27, 1952. There was no record of human death in that blaze, however. Maywood Park officials said the only other fire there damaged part of the grandstand in 1949.

Relatives and friends identified the victims as Hubert (Pat) Callahan, 45, who lived at Sportsman's Park in Chicago; Arthur Dean Voyles, 35, of Lincoln, Ill.; and Del N. Logue, 57, of Springfield, Ill.

Saved Several — Authorities credited Callahan with saving several horses. Deputy Michael Starr of the Cook

Vike Netters Blank Siwash In Opener

The Lawrence College varsity tennis team made its first start under new coach Darrell Schultz, a successful one, blanking Knox, 7-0, over the weekend.

The match was held Friday evening and Saturday morning on an indoor Neenah court because of inclement weather. Because of the conditions, just one pro-type, 10-game set was played in each match.

The Vikings' next matches are against Grinnell at 4 p.m. Friday and Cornell at 8 a.m. Saturday, both on the Viking courts.

Last weekend's summary:

SINGLES:
Dave Grant (L) beat Phil Pippenger, 10-3.
Walt Drew (L) beat Jack Cutright, 10-2.
Tom Krohn (L) beat Bill Fay, 10-1.
Dick Lang (L) beat Pete Finck, 10-5.
Al Blackburn (L) beat Lynn Wright, 10-3.

DOUBLES:
Krohn-Drew (L) beat Pippenger-Fink, 10-8.
Grant-Tom Schinbeck (L) beat Cutright-Fay, 10-3.

Souchak Wins For First Time In 10 Months

Shoots 276 in Greater Greensboro Golf Tournament

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Broad-shouldered Mike Souchak, his awesome tee shots screaming down the fairways hole after hole, returned to the winner's circle after an absence of almost 10 months by winning the Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament Sunday.

The muscular 33-year-old former Duke University football end was the only player in the starting field of 120 to break par four times. He had rounds of 70-68-69-69 for a 72 hole total of 276, eight under par for the Sedgefield Country Club course.

His seven-stroke margin over runner-up Sam Snead equaled the biggest spread for the year's professional tour.

Snead, seven times winner here, closed with a par 71 to slip into second place and win $2,100 of the $22,500 purse. The White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., veteran, who will be 49 next month, has finished no worse than third in 12 of the last 13 Greensboro tournaments.

Billy Maxwell of Dallas, Tex., who had been tied for the 36-hole lead, was only 234. Jim Holtz hit a 252 game, and two strokes down starting the last round, finished third at 284. He won $1,650. He struggled through Gerrits 553.

Tied for fourth place at 285 were Canadian Stan Leonard, who closed with 73, and Charlie Sifford a 75 finisher. Each won $1,300.

Sifford, Los Angeles pro who became the first Negro to play in a Deep South major golf tournament, started in shaky fashion with two bogies and a double bogie on the first four holes. Thereafter, he shot par golf.

U.S. Quintet Plans to Run Leaves for 8 Tilt Soviet Union Tour Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) — An all-star United States basketball team leaves for an eight-game tour of the Soviet Union Tuesday and if the Russians want to know what's in store for them, all they have to do is ask coach Jimmy McLendon.

"We're going to make the Russian clubs play our way," said McLendon today. "We're going to play a running game."

McLendon, coach of Cleveland's championship NBL team, said the Russians might be surprised to find some of his guards short compared to what they're used to seeing.

The United States starting team will be composed of Ohio State's All-American, Jerry Lucas, plus three members of McLendon's Cleveland club — John Barnhill, Ben Warley and Roger Taylor.

Ken Techlin Jars 605 at Freedom

Ken Techlin shot the high series, a 605, in the latest round of bowling at Liesch's Alleys, Free-who had been tied for the 36-hole lead, was only 234. Jim Holtz hit a 252 game, and two strokes down starting the last round, finished third at 284. He won $1,650. He struggled through Gerrits 553.

478. Don Mincher also hit a homer for the Twins.

Donovan was rolling along with a 2-0 lead going into the ninth when Johnny Temple led off with his third straight single. Francona roostered with a blast over the right field wall. After singles by Jimmy Piersall and Willie Kirkland, Manager Mickey Vernon of the Senators replaced Donovan with Rudy Hernandez, who was greeted by Woody Held's game-winning single.

Johnny Antonelli, making his first American League start for the Indians, departed for a pinch hitter after seven innings. Bob Allen, a lefty up from Mobile, won in relief.

Three Men, 42 Horses Die in Fire

County Sheriff's Police said Callahan was the first to spread the alarm, opened stalls and saved horses.

"If there's a hero, it's Callahan," Starr said.

Stable hands generally sleep one to a tack room. They normally rise before 5 a.m. to begin daily chores. But many slept in because no races are scheduled Sundays.

Police said Voyles and Logue apparently were caught in their bunks as flames raced through the building.

Andrew J. Hennessey, 63, of Springfield, Ill., said he saved four of his eight horses by tying a wet bag and towels over the animals' heads so they wouldn't bolt upon seeing flame.

Former national driver champion Harry Burritt lost five horses in his stable.

CHICAGO (AP) — A 19-year-old harness race driver from the Milwaukee area, Tom Peterson, suffered cuts and burns but was not seriously hurt in a fire which destroyed two stables at Maywood Park Trotting Track Sunday.

Peterson said he was awakened in his quarters in one of the barns by the yells of Patrick Callahan, 47, one of the victims.

"It sounded like fighting in the barns" as the trapped and dying horses pounded stalls attempting to escape, said Peterson.

Peterson said that when he fled, he saw Callahan, his jacket aflame, running a horse from a burning stall.

"I went in and woke the boys and started to lead a horse out," Peterson went on. The horse bolted and threw him to the ground. "I saw Callahan go back into the stalls," but I never saw him after that," Peterson said.

'Ambassadors to the East' More Than 400 Persons Pay Tribute to Zephyr Basketball Squad

BY RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — The city of Menasha, the state of Wisconsin and the nation honored the "Ambassadors to the East," the St. Mary basketball squad, Sunday night at a dinner in the St. Mary High School gym.

A throng of over 400 attended the fete, including such guests as State Sen. William Draheim, Menasha Superintendent of Schools, Marv Gegan, Menasha High School Principal Les Weinberger, Ken Kimball, of the First National Bank of Menasha, and the official family of St. Mary's High School.

In addition to the short speech-

Keller, putting on the same ski that won them second place in the entertainment competition at Newport.

Robert Doll did a series of impressions. The bandmaster had his St. Mary group do the entertaining during the dinner.

Mayor John Klein made a brief appearance to present each member of the squad (and the coach) a certificate proclaiming them as official ambassadors to the East. The certificates were authorized by the Menasha city council.

Toastmaster Bob Schulze read several messages of congratulations. One of them was from John Edgar Hoover, of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Other wires were from Gov. Gaylord Nelson; Ed Hickey, of Marquette University; Johnny Erickson, of the University of Wisconsin, Don Wirth, president of the State Broadcasting Association and WNAM Sen. Alexander Wiley.

Coach Hickey offered his regret that he could not attend and bring Pete Vanderhyden, of the 1960 Zephyr team and now a member of the Marquette freshmen squad, with him. Hickey said that Vanderhyden "exemplifies the excellent training" of the students of St. Mary.

Coach Erickson wrote, "the doors of the university will always be open to the fine young men and women of St. Mary High School".

The Newport mayor remarked that the Zephyrs had captured the affections of the citizens of Newport and said he looked forward to their return in 1962.

McClone introduced his players and made brief comments about each boy. He called Jim Koerner, "old reliable", and said he was the "Tommy Henrich of the Zephyrs."

Of Bill Becker, McClone said, "it was a real privilege to coach him." "Mac" said that Bob Rueckl is "really going to find himself one of these days and make some college an excellent player." Rueckl had returned from St. Paul, Minn., only hours before the start of the banquet where he has been accepted for enrollment by St. Thomas College.

Tony Rechner was praised for his hustle in the Rhode Island tourney. McClone commented when introducing him, "Nobody in Rhode Island will ever forget this guy."

Of "Gus" Laemmrich, he said "one of the best competitors we've ever had here," and of Addie Martin, he said, "he must have saved his best games for Rhode Island." The coach went on to heap praise on Kerry Young, Dave Eckholm, Bill Starr, Tom Johnson, Phil Keller, Richie Konkol, and Bob Stumpf.

McClone reported the remarkable improvement of Stumpf, who rose "from last man on the junior varsity as a sophomore to varsity status."

Kimball, who led the drive of the Jokers Club in Menasha to finance the trip, said the whole thing started over "a cup of coffee." He said that all the merchants up and down Main Street were responsible for the trip.

Softball Loops To be Organized In Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Organizational meetings for the 16-inch and 12-inch softball leagues to be operated this summer by the recreation department will be held Thursday in the council chambers of city hall, according to James Gertz, recreation directors.

Those planning to participate in the 12-inch ball league are to meet at 7 p.m. The 16-inch loop, for men 32 years and older, will be organized at 7:45. The sessions are intended for managers and representatives of sponsors.

fort and the presence of Gegan Weinbergen made this all the more apparent. The Rev. Joseph Becker, St. Mary principal, called their presence to everyone's attention. Father Becker said that if Menasha High School ever had a similar situation, the officials of St. Mary would be glad to attend.

out and a hit batsman alerted Dark to call for O'Dell. Doubles by Kuenn and Orlando Cepeda helped get the Giants away to a three-run first inning and doomed Roberts to his second defeat.

Kicking Duel
A show-stopping kicking duel between Dodger Coach Leo Durocher and umpire Jocko Conlan broke out during the Dodger-Pirate game in which Los Angeles ended a three-game losing streak.

Leo and Jocko exchanged kicks during an argument over a high pop by Dodger Norm Larker that landed in fair territory but then bounced foul.

The Dodgers came from behind and racked up five Pirate pitchers for 15 hits, handing Vern Law his second straight defeat. Stan Williams was the winner with the help of home runs by Tommy Davis, Wally Moon and Sherry.

Sadecki, 20-year-old left-handed pitcher, threw a seven-hitter at Cincinnati and struck out seven, while beating Jim O'Toole. Don Landrum, whose failure to hit must have been worrying Manager Solly Hemus, finally snapped out of it on his 19th trip to the plate and launched a decisive two-run rally in the fifth with a double. Hemus has been counting on Landrum to plug his center field gap, if he can hit consistently. A double by Bill White and a single by Ken Boyer followed Landrum's hit.

Xavier High School's 1961 track team — the first in the school's 22-year history — failed to score in the Madison Edgewood Relays Saturday.

Milwaukee Marquette collected 60 points by placing in nine of 11 events to capture the meet, in the University of Wisconsin Memorial building.

Other team scores: Milwaukee Pius, 55; Edgewood, 30; Prairie du Chien Champion, 15; Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, 11; Racine St. Catherine, 10; Kenosha St. Joseph, 7; Fond du Lac St. Mary Springs, Stevens Point Pacelli, Whitefish Bay Dominican and Milwaukee Messmer, 5; Waukesha Memorial, Milwaukee Cathedral and La Crosse Aquinas also failed to score.

Xavier qualified no one for the finals. Pete Werner ran a :06.8 in the 60-yard dash but failed to qualify.

Joe Nussbaum broad jumped 13 feet, 4 inches and threw the shot 39 feet, 6 inches for two of the better Hawk performances.

PAUL JONES DISTILLING COMPANY, LOUISVILLE, KY. • 56 PROOF 72.5% GRAIN NEUTRAL SPIRITS

Your engine burns 9,500 gallons of air for each gallon of gasoline. Air is free. Gasoline costs money.

Dirty deposits that build up in your carburetor's throat can upset the delicate fuel-air mixture your engine needs to run efficiently and economically. That's one big reason a dirty carburetor wastes gasoline—especially in slow-speed or stop-and-go driving.

How To Burn More Air and Less Gasoline:

Remember, air is free. You don't have to pay anyone for it. All you have to do is get your carburetor clean, so your engine can burn all the air it wants when the throttle is completely closed. You could pay $8.50 to $25 to have your carburetor cleaned. But the lowest-cost way is simply to drive your carburetor clean—just by switching to Skelly Regular Gasoline with new stepped-up detergent-action KT-3.

Please Don't Say, "Just Another Additive."

Before bringing you KT-3, Skelly tested this new formulation against nearly 40 additives now being offered. Our tests show that KT-3 outperforms them all. We have the evidence in our files to back up this statement.

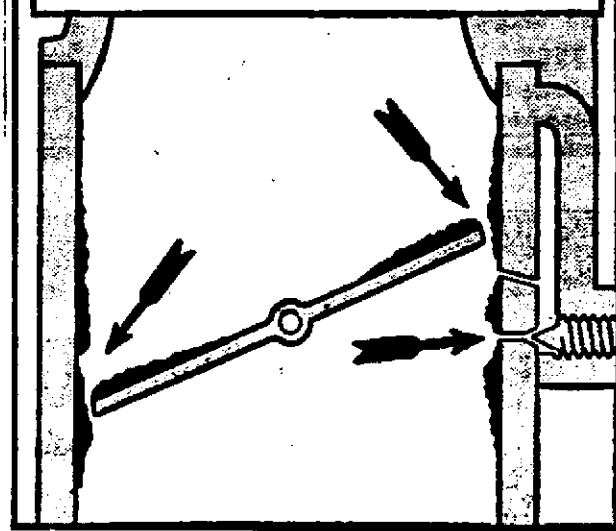

You Pay Nothing Extra For KT-3:

Skelly pays extra for KT-3, and also for transporting it and injecting it into Skelly Regular Gasoline at terminal points around the country. But you don't pay extra to get KT-3. You simply pay the regular price of Skelly Regular Gasoline.

So don't reset your carburetor... don't pay good money to clean your carburetor's throat. If your car uses regular gasoline, see your Skelly dealer and switch to new Skelly Regular with stepped-up detergent-action KT-3. Drive your carburetor clean. Burn more free air and less gasoline.

It's about as close as you can come to getting something for nothing.

Cleaner Carburetor

Cleans carburetors 30% better than all additives tested. New Skelly Regular with KT-3 dissolves the gum that binds dirty deposits to vital carburetor areas shown by arrows above. That lets your engine breathe free—and does it just by driving!

... And A Cleaner Engine, Too:

New Skelly Regular with KT-3 also...

- Cleans valve areas 20% better than all additives tested.
- Cleans intake systems 19% better than all additives tested.
- Even cleans your combustion chambers better than all additives tested.

New API Oil Change Recommendations

- Every 30 days in winter
- Every 60 days in summer
- Never to exceed 2,000 miles

Skelly endorses these recommendations.

Neenah Netters Open Season At Shawano

Doug Ankerson and Dick Diedrich Only
Lettermen on Team

NEENAH — With a roster studded with underclassmen and only two lettermen, the Neenah High School tennis team will open the 1961 season at Shawano Tuesday.

Veteran Coach Ivan Williams has only one senior on the entire roster. The lettermen are both juniors and three senior lettermen are not on the team because of disciplinary reasons.

Monogram winners who are expected to form the hub of the squad are Doug Ankerson and Dick Diedrich. Ankerson is one of the top junior division players in the area and last season teamed with Dick Wilson to win the state high school doubles title.

One-Two Punch

Diedrich played in the state singles and along with Ankerson is expected to give the Rockets a good one-two punch.

Other members of the 16-man varsity roster include Ken Peterson, Dick Rogness, Bob Bletzing, Dick Austin, Gilbert Dix, John Oehlke, Dave Williams, Tom
Jahns, John Rather, Jim Block,
Lloyd Hewitt, Tom Diedrich and Robert Kraus.

Other candidates are Tim Tuch-scherer, Bill Christianson, Ron Petersen, Woody Cross, Fred Thompson, Alan Mosher, Jim Caspersen and Craig Yakes.

Neenah will play six Mid-Eastern Conference foes and has scheduled non-league meets against Appleton High, Wausau, Fond

Louise Suggs Cops 52nd Test Of Pro Career

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Louise
Suggs won her third $10,000 Dallas Civitan Open in a low Sunday then checked up and found it was the fifty-second tournament she has knocked off in a 13-year professional career.

Actually, she has most of the 13th year to go and could make her record — the greatest in women's pro golf — even more impressive. The Dallas Civitan was her third this year.

It's on to Beaumont today for the Babe Zaharias 54-hole tournament for Miss Suggs and the women's tour.

The little picture swinger from Atlanta shot a 2-over-par 73 Sun-

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) —
James Caspers of Racine, Wis., defending men's champion, finished sixth in the free style competition Sunday at the National Indoor Archery Tournament ended.

Caspers moved up from 17th place his position at the end of the first round.

Bill Partin of Lexington, Ohio, won the men's freestyle with 1,666 of a possible 1,728.

Esther Paczkowski of Milwaukee was second in women's instructive with 1,266.

Green Bay Packer quarterback Bart Starr, left, was the featured speaker of the "Sports Night" program at St. Pius school Sunday. Also shown are William Otto (center), president of the athletic association, and Gene Clark, Xavier High School coach. Nearly 300 persons attended.

Reuter Whacks 582 Set, Leads K of C League

KAUKAUNA — Karl Minkebege slammed a 240 game, and Fritz Reuter registered a 582 series to share honors in the Knights of Columbus Bowling League at the Bowling Bar.

Schmidt Oil walked off with the title with a 66 24 record while the Grill was second with a 53 1/2-36 1/2 mark. Other honor counts were hit by Karl Minkebege 580, Gene Schuh, 561, and Don Van Abel
551.

The League banquet is scheduled Thursday at Van Abel's, Hollandtown.

4 Title Bouts Set Within 7-Day Span

Joe Brown Risks
Crown for Tenth Time Tuesday

BY MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Starting with the Joe Brown-Dave Charnley light-weight title fight in London Tuesday night, four titles will be at stake within a seven-day span.

At London's Earl's Court Stadium, the 35-year-old Brown of Baton Rouge, La., will risk his 135-pound "crown" for the tenth time in a return bout with the left-handed, 25-year-old British and European champion, "Old Bones" stopped Charnley on a cut over the right eye in their first fight at Houston, Texas, 16 months ago.

Next on the championship parade is the middleweight title fight between Paul Pender of Brookline, Mass., and Carmen Basilio of Chittenango, N.Y., at the Boston Garden Saturday night. Pender is the New York, Massachusetts, and European-recognized as boss by the NBA.

On Sunday, Duilio Loi, the junior welterweight (140 pounds) champion from Italy, meets Carlos Ortiz of New York, in a title bout for the third time. The "rubber" bout will be held at Milan, Italy, Loi's home town. Each has won once in close fights.

The fourth title scrap will be fought Monday, April 24, at Philadelphia. This one matches Harold Johnson, the NBA light-heavyweight ruler, and Von Clay. Both are from Philadelphia.

Wallden Cops UW Golf Title For Third Time

MADISON (AP) — Larry Wal-lden, captain of the University of Wisconsin Mks team, won the All-University Golf Tournament Saturday for the third straight time.
He had a 36-hole total of 142 after posting a 74 on the final round at the Lake Ropley Country Club, a par 70 layout at Cambridge.

The top 10 scores: Tom Nelson,
Green Bay, 145; Marty Gharney,
Shawano, 149; Garry Moore, Fort
Atkinson, 150; Jay Zawadzinski,
151; Don Edwards, 154; Ron Knilians, 155; Dick Demitros, 155;
Jeff Sachs, 156, and Tom

Sheboygan Team Takes First on 2,619

Other Leaders
In Lutheran Meet
Remain Unchanged

NEENAH — The North Bowl, of Sheboygan, produced the only change among the leaders in the 37th annual state Lutheran Bowling Tournament at Lakewood Lanes.

The team scored a 2,619 to move ahead of the previous leader, Boel-ter's of Milwaukee.

Mildred Schroeder and Marge Byrum, of Sheboygan, who rolled a 1,141 to take the women's doubles lead last week, remained in that position as did the men's doubles combination of Les Dahms and Louis Draheim, of Oshkosh. The latter pair's score is 1,237.

Behnke's Clothing, of Appleton, continues in first place in the men's team division with 2,829, and the singles leaders, Herb Kramer, of Neenah, and Audrey Lederer, of Milwaukee, remain the same. Kramer's mark is 652 and Audrey Lederer's leading count is 584.

Arnie Goede is the all-events leader with a total of 1,682 pins.

Lucas Selected Big Ten's MVP

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State's All-America Jerry Lucas has been named the most valuable basketball player in the Big Ten Conference for the second straight year.

Lucas was selected Saturday and will receive the Silver Basketball, presented for 16 years by the Chicago Tribune.

Coaches, officials and the conference commissioner gave Lucas 13 first place votes. Terry Dis-chinger of Purdue was second in the voting and Don Nelson of Iowa was third.

WISCONSIN DELLS (AP) —
Waukesha won the Wisconsin
High School Volleyball Championship
Saturday by defeating South Milwaukee two straight games in a playoff required when both teams finished regulation tourney play with identical 9-1 slates.

The Blackshirts won the playoff games 15-5 and 15-13.

Hollsboro was third with a 5-5 tournament record, followed by Butternut, 4-6; Montello, 3-7, and Prescott, 0-10.

Bow Hunters Oppose CD's $5 License Fee Proposal

Opposition to a bill which would require a special license for bow and arrow hunters was recorded by the board of directors include:
Ing Gisselman, Wausau, vice-president; Robert Fancer, Green Bay, secretary-treasurer and Mrs.
Fancer, corresponding secretary.
Members of the board of directors include: Wildenberg, Emil Huebner, Milwaukee; John Schoenick, Clintonville; Gisselman and Fancer.

Over 300 archery enthusiasts attended the parley which was arranged by Rod Harrmann, Appleton and Chris Wildenberg, Little Chute.

Strong opposition was voiced for the Conservation Department proposal to set a special $5 license fee for the bowhunters.

Explain Opposition

Members of the association explained they oppose the plan because they do not want bowhunters to be classed in a special group. Keeping bowhunters in the regular big-game category gives all other big-game hunters a chance to go out with a bow for their deer if they are not successful during the gun season.

Other resolutions passed by the association included:

That the opening date for the regular bow and arrow season be set no later than Sept. 23 and close four days prior to the opening of the firearms season.

That the opening date of the special late bow and arrow season be Dec. 2 to Dec. 31, 1961.

Re-elected President

Robert Ringdahl, Onalaska, was re-elected president of the assoamateur event on the 20th. Title rounds of 18 holes each will begin the following day, with the field cut to 90 after 36 holes. Tommy Puls of Milwaukee is the defending champion.

Principals to Meet

Miss Dorothy Neubauer, of the National Education Association's elementary principals' department, will speak to principals of the Fox River Valley area after a dinner at 6 p.m. today at Ap-

Chaminade Program Delights Big Audience

BY JEAN OTTO
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A spotlighted painting of two angels and the risen Christ formed the background for Chaminade's lovely Chorus' first offering at its 19th annual spring concert Sunday eve. The annual spring concert Sunday eve, held at Lawrence Memorial Chapel, was a pleasing appearance to a crowd which seemed eager to enjoy their return.

Assisting artist, Lucy Baicher Heiberg, violinist, demonstrated in her opening number, "Praeludium" by Bach-Kreisler, that she was master of her instrument. From that point on she put her violin through almost all the techniques of which it is capable.

She evoked moods and images ranging from gay and whimsical through the lyrical and romantic, the deep melancholy of the Russian peasant, the low pulsating rhythm of a Hungarian dance and the flashing fire of a Rumanian dance. The artist, accompanied by Elizabeth Schofield Hollinger, entranced her listeners with her variety of selections and her ability to perform them all with skill and feeling.

Please Audience

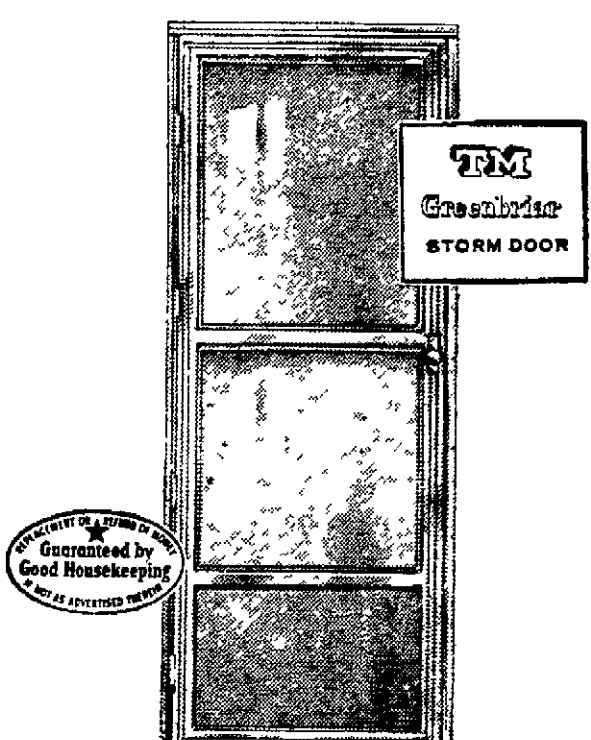

Chaminade Chorus closed its program with a group of happy and familiar show tunes "I Whistle a Happy Tune" by Rodgers and Hammerstein, "While We're Young" by Wilder, Palitz and Engvick, and "I Can't Help Singing" by Richard Hyatt were presented with lighthearted gaiety. They were obvious audience pleasers.

The singers' final number was the hauntingly beautiful Rodgers and Hammerstein's "You'll Never Walk Alone." This was the most outstanding presentation of the evening.

Encore numbers were "The Whistling Girl" and "Clouds Filled With Light." Both were light and happy songs which left the audience delighted with Chaminade's accomplishment.

first part of the program and reassured the large audience that Chaminade probably is back for good. Mrs. Clarence Richter accompanied the group.

Violin Soloist

If appearance counts for anything in such a show, Chaminade was off to a good start even before they sang. The group boasts members of all ages. Wearing pastel gowns, they presented a pleasing appearance to a crowd which seemed eager to enjoy their return.

Plan Inquest Into Drowning

Illinois Man's Body Wedged Between Rocks in Wolf River

WAUPACA — Sheriff Ray Abrahamson said today an inquest is being planned into the drowning of James Gilkey, 27, Aurora, Ill., early April 8 when the car in which he was driving plunged into the Wolf River at Gull's Landing near Weyauwega.

John F. Marsh Jr., 26, Aurora, the driver, told authorities he did not know the road ended and drove off a boat launching ramp near the Wolf River Hotel. Neil L. Sanders, 24, Geneva, Ill., the other passenger, told authorities the river looked, in the dark, like water on the road.

Waupaca County highway crews have placed an "end of the road" on the approach to the launching ramp and Sheriff Abrahamson said a big sign should be placed in the middle of the road to warn motorists.

Wedged on Bottom

Gilkey's body was recovered in 10 feet of water about 9 15 a. m. Saturday by Jack Kane of Aurora, a volunteer skindiver. He was one of five Aurora and Chicago skindivers who formed the vanguard of a party of about 20 divers who planned to take part in the search.

Kane and the other four divers started work about 9 a. m. Saturday. He told Sheriff Abrahamson he found Gilkey's body wedged between two rocks on the bottom of the river about 200 feet downstream from the place where Marsh's small foreign car plunged into the river.

Plans had been made to form a barge of flat bottom boats in the river from which the 20 divers were to start working at 10 a. m.

Oil Paintings Cover Walls Of Kenneth Craig Home

BY MARION DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — Mrs. Kenneth A. Craig, 329 Ninth St., is a warm, outgoing woman with many interests and a tremendous talent. She has been active in Appleton League of Women Voters and other civic groups but "I used to live by the calendar" so has resigned from all organizations but Infant Welfare Circle of the King's Daughters, Appleton, in which she is very interested.

She is an avid gardener, but her first love is painting, and when she speaks of her work her enthusiasm is contagious.

"I am such a prolific painter," she said laughingly, "that every piece of plaster in my house is covered with oils instead of wall paper. When I get tired of those, I re-decorate by bringing up others from the closet in the basement."

Mrs. Craig was born Liesa Helen John in a suburb of Berlin, Germany, when her father, Dr. Hans John, was a student at the university there. She studied at elementary schools in Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia. When she was 11 years old, the Johns moved to Paris and she was accepted at Academic Julien. "They take only people they consider talented in drawing or oils," Mrs. Craig said.

When she was 12-years-old the family came to Appleton, where her father worked briefly with the Institute of Paper Chemistry until he went to Kimberly-Clark Corp. as a research chemist. Dr. John retired 10 years ago. He and his wife live at 206 N. Union St., Appleton.

Lawrence Student

Mrs. Craig attended public schools in Kimberly and Appleton, as well as Lawrence College. In 1939 she married Kenneth Craig, who was then an assistant professor of chemistry at Lawrence.

The Craig house was designed by Mrs. Craig and is typical of her many interests. She is an original and fascinating hostess, enormously interested in people and the Craig's entertain a wide circle of friends very often.

"Because I hate to mow the lawn and am too Scotch to pay anyone to do it, we put in a large graveled terrace and do most of our summer entertaining outdoors. We use outside lighting and lots of furniture, flowers and shrubbery. When I can't plant outdoors, I plant what I call 'garbage' indoors." Mrs. Craig's wide window seats have thriving pineapple plants, and lemon and orange trees she has planted from seeds. Her living room with its profusion of colorful paintings and flourishing greenery is "typically Liesa" her friends say.

She paints on her dining room table—"the light is terrible," she says, "but it's ridiculous for an artist to say he has to have a north light. I move around and get the light as I can." She is very fond of French impressionists and does a great deal of copying. "I like gay, modern color, sometimes I change their colors and some of the arrangements. I use techniques from all artists in my own work."

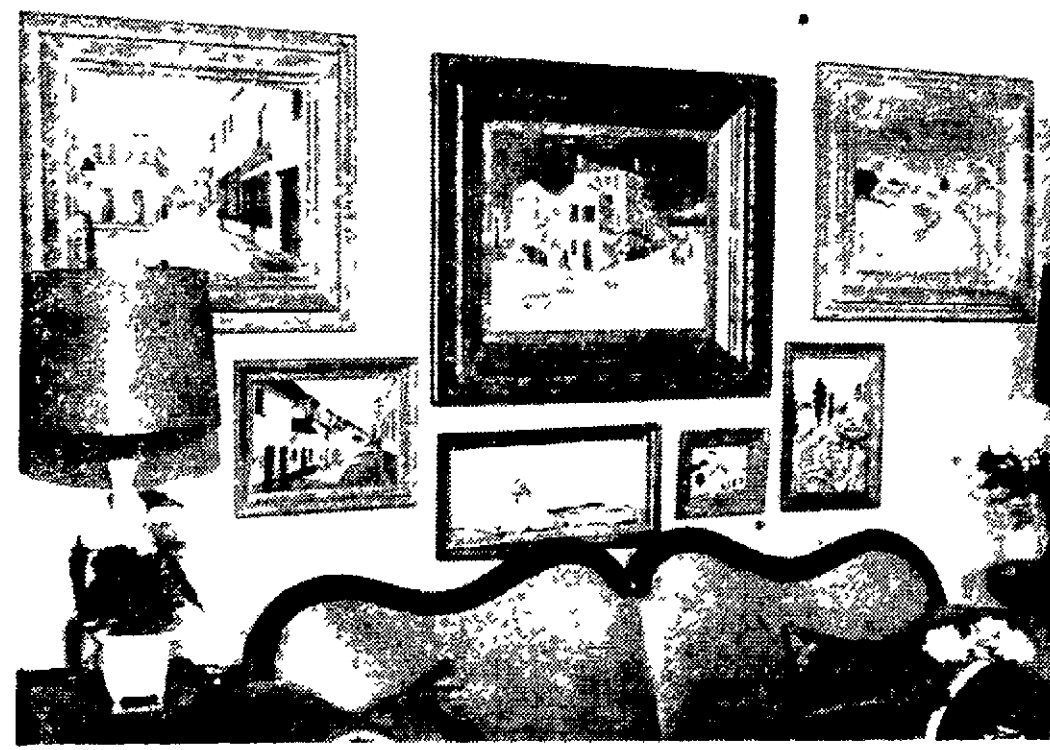

Currently she is very excited about a trip to Europe she and her husband will take in May with Mr. and Mrs. John Menn, Appleton. Although she has been in Europe since the family came here, she remarked that "this time we will go on our own. We will fly from Chicago to Orly airport and will be met with a car we have leased for six weeks. I have many friends in the six countries we will visit, but only a second cousin in the family. We will see her too."

The "Studio" where Mrs. Craig does most of her painting is in reality her dining room. Using the table as an easel and the best light available, Mrs. Craig believes it is "ridiculous" for a painter to insist on a north light. Copies of Utrillo's White Period, painted by Mrs. Craig, are hung in the library of her home, as well as original paintings by Mrs. Craig. Using oils instead of wallpaper in decorating Mrs. Craig says she covers "every inch of plaster", and brings more of her paintings out of the closet when she tires of current pictures.

A Room Used as a "Retreat" for listening to hi-fi as well as for entertaining is the "second living room" in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Craig, 329 Ninth St., Neenah. Although this basement room is tremendous, its well-planned arrangement of chairs and loveseats makes it equally adaptable for a small group for quiet enjoyment of record concerts and symphonies.

The Living Room of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Craig is sunny, with large picture windows and is handsomely decorated with Mrs. Craig's paintings and blooming plants. This group over a handsome loveseat is especially interesting.

The "Second Living Room" in the Craig house has a piano and hi-fi phonograph and is large enough to include a bar and dining table. Brilliant colors are used, with orange predominating. At one end of the room is Mrs. Craig's collection of French posters by French impressionists as well as by Chagall, a Russian painter, whom Mrs. Craig likes because his work is "light and airy."

Author, Lecturer To Address Women

NEENAH — "Fear Takes a Holiday" will be the topic of Dr. Cleo Dawson who will talk to Women's Tuesday Club at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Boys' Brigade Building.

Dr. Dawson is the product of two countries. She was born on a Texas cattle ranch so close to the Rio Grande she has never and human relations at an early age. Cleo Dawson is the product of five universities, a speech graduate of Baylor College, she has a master's degree from Southern Methodist University and her master's and doctorate from the University of Kentucky, where she spent 10 years teaching. Finally, a growing circle of demand upon her interests in psychology trends and world affairs drew her into writing and lecturing which have taken her to many parts of the world.

Dr. Dawson has appeared on television shows and many women's clubs as well as Chicago Rotary Club. She is author of "She Came to the Valley" and her new book, "How to Manage Women" will be released soon.

Mrs. Sommers Brings Home State 'Mrs.' Title

BY JEAN OTTO
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Four little girls and a boy at 543 N. Linwood Ave., have known for a long time that their Mom was 'the greatest'. They had their opinion confirmed by experts Saturday when Mrs. Florence Sommers was named Mrs. Wisconsin at the Milwaukee Home Show. The wife of Appleton traffic patrolman, LeRoy Sommers, and advertising director at Elm Tree Bakery, competed with five other finalists for the title. There were 240 original entrants in the contest whose winner will compete for the national title in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in the fall.

Suppressed Excitement
From the outside, the white house with gray shutters appeared quiet Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Sommers were still in Milwaukee where Mrs. Sommers was reigning over the show's final day. Inside, the air was charged with excitement. "The Mommy didn't think she would people we live near Mrs. Wisconsin," blond pony-tailed 10-year-old Jean confided. "She even daughter. And I'm special." checked out of her hotel. She couldn't believe it!" Her sparkling eyes and smiles showed she hadn't doubted for a minute what the outcome would be.

Received Call
"Do you know how we found out she won?" Sheryl asked. "One of Daddy's friends called and asked how it felt to be a princess. At first we didn't know what he meant. Then we got so excited we had to run and tell the neighbors."

Ten-year-old Tom and Sheryl were both spreading the good news when their mother called. "We didn't get to talk to her at all," Tom said. "She called a couple of times during the week, though, to let us know what was happening. Dad went down Saturday morning."

"Everybody's been calling all day today to congratulate Mommy," Becky announced, fixing a ribbon on one of her braids. "The neighbors said now we can tell."

"Mommy didn't think she would people we live near Mrs. Wisconsin," blond pony-tailed 10-year-old Jean confided. "She even daughter. And I'm special." checked out of her hotel. She couldn't believe it!" Her sparkling eyes and smiles showed she hadn't doubted for a minute what the outcome would be.

grader at Washington School. She and Susan, a kindergartner with short brown hair and a dimple in her chin, told how everyone at Sunday school had been talking to them about their Mommy. They tried to sit quietly in the neat living room but their excitement couldn't be dampened and they gave the impression of bouncing up and down as they told about their favorite dishes, how they hoped they could all go to Florida in November, and how proud they were.

"Pizza's my favorite," Sheryl said. "That's good!" "Um-hum," Becky agreed, rubbing her tummy at the thought. "I like Chili," Jean stated. "Chili and chicken."

"I like chicken too" Sue jumped up. "With all that good crisp stuff on the outside."

"Good Cook"
Tom preferred more masculine favorites. Roast beef and cauliflower. They all like apple pie, and the cake with which Mrs. Sommers took second place in the baking division — maraschino cherry with chocolate frosting. And fruit cocktail pie. Mrs. Sommers' skill with a meal gave her a first place when she prepared a dinner featuring liver and bacon.

She sews too, according to her daughters. "She likes to make us summer dresses," they said.

Not A Normal Day
There's no question that normal activity in the household has been rather changed this weekend. Sheryl found it pretty difficult to get down to the commonplace chore of washing dishes and the delivery of Girl Scout cookies was postponed for a few days. It isn't everyday that Mother becomes Oshkosh. Ushers were Gregory Mrs. Wisconsin, and children Reinhardt, brother of the bride, can't be expected to take such the things as a usual course of events.

There's no doubt about how the Sommers children feel about their Mother, and this reporter had a feeling that when she returned to High School, is employed by Kimher family, each one told her they knew all along she was a winner.

Say Vows In Saturday Ceremony

NEENAH — First Evangelical United Brethren Church was the setting for the 3 p.m. wedding Saturday of Miss Susan Margaret Reinhardt and James Edward Kelly Jr. The Rev. William C. F. Hayes read the nuptials for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Mrs. James Kelly Jr.

Douglas Reinhardt, State 114, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Sr., 721 Nicolet Blvd.

Miss Nancy Stommel was her cousin's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Kopitzke. Mrs. Stan Seibold and Mrs. Roger Loos, both of Oshkosh. Al-rather changed this weekend. Sheryl found it pretty difficult to groom. Best man was Stanley Seibold, chore of washing dishes and the delivery of Girl Scout cookies was postponed for a few days. It isn't everyday that Mother becomes Oshkosh. Ushers were Gregory Mrs. Wisconsin, and children Reinhardt, brother of the bride, can't be expected to take such the things as a usual course of events.

grader at Washington School. She and Susan, a kindergartner with short brown hair and a dimple in her chin, told how everyone at Sunday school had been talking to them about their Mommy. They tried to sit quietly in the neat living room but their excitement couldn't be dampened and they gave the impression of bouncing up and down as they told about their favorite dishes, how they hoped they could all go to Florida in November, and how proud they were.

"Pizza's my favorite," Sheryl said. "That's good!" "Um-hum," Becky agreed, rubbing her tummy at the thought. "I like Chili," Jean stated. "Chili and chicken."

"I like chicken too" Sue jumped up. "With all that good crisp stuff on the outside."

"Good Cook"
Tom preferred more masculine favorites. Roast beef and cauliflower. They all like apple pie, and the cake with which Mrs. Sommers took second place in the baking division — maraschino cherry with chocolate frosting. And fruit cocktail pie. Mrs. Sommers' skill with a meal gave her a first place when she prepared a dinner featuring liver and bacon.

WRONG FOOT WEAR

There has been considerable comment over a tea I attended late last winter and I am now reaching the boiling point. Several women, including the guest of honor, came to the party wearing shoe boots. Being a cold, slushy and muddy day the hostess' beautiful oriental rugs were covered with mud and snow prints. Shouldn't these women have had the thoughtfulness to bring other shoes with them in order to make a discreet change in the entry way of the house?

Louise Davis Answers:
A great big YES. Better yet, those snow booted guests might have worn more appropriate footwear to a tea party. Galoshes and plastic boots are simple to remove. No matter what the foot gear, wearing slushy, snowy, muddy or wet shoes or boots into a residence is incredible.

Your Problems Readers Rebel Against Man Who Would Leave Injured Dog

BY ANN LANDERS

Dear Readers: The mail this week demonstrates again that America is a nation of dog lovers. The letter which triggered thousands of angry responses from boiling mad readers was signed "Realist." He said he would not stop to help an injured dog if the dumb animal happened to be in the path of his car. He sought to justify his position by saying that people who allowed their pets to roam around unleashed deserved what they got.

A reader in Tampa sent a 220 word telegram. I even heard from the dogs. This first letter is from Norfolk, Va. It was signed "Trixie" and bore her paw-print:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm nothing special—just a mutt. My mother was part terrier and part airedale. My father was a transient, so to speak. I couldn't win any prizes but the folks I live with love me anyway. When they read that letter from the guy who called himself "Realist" they blew up. My master said if anyone ever hit me and left me in the road to die he'd go after him with a double-barreled shot gun. I'd sure hate to see anyone get shot, but if I did, I'd go for help. I wouldn't let him just lie there no matter who he was or what he'd done.

Kansas City: That heartless character who wouldn't stop to help an injured dog said that animals are stupid. I'll bet Lassie's take-home pay is bigger than his.

Santa Cruz, Calif.: Anyone who would hit an animal and leave him in the street to die would probably do the same if he hit a human. We have a couple of two-legged animals and we happen to love them very much. I hope that moron doesn't live in our neighborhood.

President Growing Increasingly Popular

Note Absence of Pressure on Congress
By People to Stir Program Interest

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has impressed the nation with his sense of action. But the people seem to be paying more attention to him as a person than to what he's saying as a president.

The New York Times and the Wall Street Journal last week checked with members of Congress returning from Easter vacation and reported they had found back home:

1. Kennedy is increasingly popular.
2. The people show little interest in his programs.
3. Absence of Pressure

The result of No. 2 is an absence of pressure on Congress to do what the President wants. There are three ways to interpret this:

1. Kennedy, after his early grim and urgent warnings, has shoveled out his programs with far too little explanation to the people—say in a TV talk—to get broad public support.

2. Or, most Americans, except the unemployed, don't feel much urgency themselves because they are not hurting for money or comforts. Their inclination, without White House prodding, is to rock along.
3. Or, his programs, except for medical care for the aged, are not the kind that stir up enthusiasm or controversy.

Program Extensions

Kennedy's programs, except for medical care, are not even tinged with newness but are either routine, like his budget message, or extensions of programs long in existence, like raising minimum pay or extending unemployment pay.

If most Americans are showing little interest in Kennedy's proposals — because, under No. 2 above, they are comfortable and feel no urgency—then this is a complacency which has been a constant American condition for some time.

A good example is the American reaction to the Soviet achievements in space.

This country was shocked in 1957 when the Soviet Union fired its first Sputnik into orbit. Briefly, there was intensive soul-searching on why this country hadn't been first. Then the nation relaxed again.

Hardly Disturbed

Two years later it seemed hardly disturbed when the Russians hit the moon. Now again there has been some hand-wringing in Congress because the Soviets put the first man into space last week. But there's not much excitement.

There is one good explanation why Kennedy hasn't done more to get popular support for his programs, meaning public pressure on Congress. He has been an extremely busy president.

He has been firing proposals at Congress in a steady stream. Each requires a lot of his time for consultation, examination and preparation. In addition, he has had to spend a big part of efforts on foreign affairs.

Knows Ropes

The President, after 14 years in Congress, knows the ropes. He has been pulling all the traditional ones — phoning individual members of Congress in behalf of his programs, talking with senators and representatives at the White House, sending his aides to the Capitol to put on heat.

But Congress has been in no rush to comply with his wishes. While he may get much in principle of what he asked, the individual programs he urged may come out only a shadow of what he proposed.

Dr. Granger E. Westberg, right, associate professor of religion and health at the University of Chicago, began a series of seven lectures at First Congregational Church, Appleton, this weekend. Talking with him at a special congregational dinner are E. E. Dickey and Mrs. Richard Schroeder.

Speaker Tells Of Treatment Of Whole Man

Relation of Doctor, Pastor Has Changed, Dr. Westberg Says

The new working relationship between physician and minister in treating the whole man in spirit as well as body was described to First Congregational Church members and guests Saturday evening as Dr. Granger Westberg of the University of Chicago opened a seven-lecture series on "The Relation of Health and Religion."

The crew-cut pastor, who holds joint appointments on medical and theological school faculties on the Chicago campus, and is a pioneer in clinical training for the theological students, is speaking daily through Tuesday in the third Congregational spring lecture series. He related that 19 years ago when he took on temporary chaplainship of a Lutheran hospital in Illinois, not one of the 500-odd Protestant sponsored hospitals in the United States had joint meetings for the clergy and medical men. Traditionally hospital chaplains were aged pensioners. Doctors and ministers couldn't talk together on a professional level.

Dr. Westberg said that most patients do more serious thinking about life and death on a hospital bed than they do under any other circumstances. He described studies revealing there is a close relationship between the way a man looks at life and the way his body responds to life.

The pastor, by counseling and creative listening, can work hand-in-hand with the physician, Dr. Westberg said. He described how tensions build up in the unconscious mind and are relieved either by talking them out, by recreation, by humor and tears or by physical symptoms. Skin disorders, headaches, "nerves" or stomach upsets often defy treatment.

Port Proposal to be Aired At County Board Session

Supervisors Convene Tuesday; Must Elect Officers, Make New Committee Appointments

Harold O. Griffith, right, Menasha High School printing department chairman, was honored Saturday night at the 30th annual Printers' Club dinner. With him is Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane, master of ceremonies.

Menasha Club Dinner

Honor Griffith's Years As Printing Teacher

MENASHA — Three decades of work and his service to the community. Retrospect will show the importance of things he has taught, said Giles Woolf, Griffith's assistant the last 11 years. In the 30 years of printing instruction, 552 graduates have gone through the high school course and hundreds of others have attended night school or apprentice courses, said Woolf.

Supt. Gegan and H. L. Sherman, Vocational school director, thanked Griffith for his work with their two schools. In response, Griffith thanked the group for gifts and the honors, but added that the cooperation of everyone in the community had made failure impossible. He presented bound copies of all Menasha High School yearbooks and newspapers printed at the school since 1931 to Gegan.

Griffith, who founded the club in 1931, will retire as a Menasha High School instructor at the current term's end. He will continue as trades and industry coordinator of the Vocational School. About 230 persons, some 1932 alumni who attended the first annual Printers' Club dinner, joined with industrial and educational leaders to pay tribute to "Grif."

Main speaker was George I. Watson, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who gave his department's thanks to Griffith "for we know what he has done."

Watson hailed Griffith's interest in the school's pupils and said efforts of all school administrators come to nothing without a teacher interested in youngsters.

Given Citation He also cited Supt. of Schools M. J. Gegan as a gentleman and leader.

John Wilterding, president of George Banta Co. and longtime friend of Griffith, presented the instructor with an honorary membership certificate in the Banta Quarter Century Club. The citation said Griffith had been "a valuable and constructive force in printing progress and in the lives of many young men as well as in community service."

Wilterding commented that "Grif has had everything to do with us. He trained them (the students, many employed by the Banta Company) and did more than that, serving as a counselor to many a youth."

The alumni tribute was delivered by Verl Franz, 1941 Menasha High graduate, now a sociology department member of Michigan State University.

30 Years Ahead Franz, declaring that Griffith was 30 years ahead of others in his awareness that the future depends on the ability to mold people, the biggest resources, complimented Griffith's craftsmanship, insistence on first class

Valley Group Urges Repeal Of Income Tax

Asks U. S. to Drop 'Unconstitutional Corporate Activities'

A committee headed by Fox River Valley industrialists, advertising and professional men is supporting a resolution urging that the U. S. amend the constitution to repeal federal personal income tax by getting the government out of what it calls "unconstitutional federal corporate activities, foreign aid programs and socialistic bureaus."

The Wisconsin Economic Freedom Committee said in a news release that the U.S. could "carry on all necessary constitutional functions of government, including the military, on today's present high levels," on the $40 billion revenue that would be left if the $40 billion yield of personal income taxes were cut off.

The government's manufacturing, railroad, mining, insurance and other businesses should be sold to private owners who would pay rent and taxes like other private business, the committee holds.

Lloyd G. Herbstreit, account executive of Geer-Murray, Inc., Oshkosh, heads the group. Its executive committee includes Dr. William J. Harrington, Appleton; Atty. Henry P. Hughes, Oshkosh; Orville W. Fox, foreman, Universal Motor Co., Oshkosh; Edward J. Kools, president of Kools Bros. Inc., Appleton, and two industrialists from Two Rivers and Kohler.

Public Relations Manager Named At Neenah Bank

J. Russell Ward, president of The First National Bank of Neenah, announced today the appointment of Donald B. Hill, Oshkosh, as manager of the bank's new public relations department. Hill, a graduate of Beloit College, has been associated for the past several years with The American City Bureau of Chicago, a national firm providing public relations and fund-raising counsel. Prior to that he was with J. R. Ozanne and Associates, a public relations consultant firm in Chicago, which he joined after spending three years with the U. S. army counter intelligence corps in Germany. He has already assumed his duties at The First National Bank and expects to move his wife and two children to Neenah from their home in Beloit within the next few weeks.

Falcons Dedicate Menasha Club

Brotherhood, Helpfulness Cited At Program; Founded in 1914

MENASHA — Members of the Alvin Danoski, auditors, and Walt Polish Falcons Athletic Association dedicated their new clubhouse at 544 Fourth St. to brotherhood and mutual helpfulness upon which the organization was founded in 1914.

About 130 members and guests attended a Sunday night dinner, at which Winnebago County Judge Herbert J. Mueller of Menasha spoke. The clubhouse replaces an old frame structure, part of which still stands.

Paul Osiewalski, Falcons president, read from the dedication. Judge Mueller hearkened back to the dreams and hopes of the organization's founders, who dedicated the group to athletics, civic affairs and a youth of which the group could be proud. While the new clubhouse is built of sand, gravel, stone and steel, the organization is composed of human minds and souls, the judge said.

The ladies' auxiliary, founded in 1928, served the dedication program. Officers of the Falcons group, besides Osiewalski, are Alfred Zielinski, vice president; John Kolakowski, financial secretary; Leo Rappert, recording secretary; Joseph Nadolney, treasurer; Ben Pawlowski, athletic director; Adolph Teitz, sick committee chairman; Carl Akstulewicz and

The 10-month-old daughter of a Seymour couple died in the elevator of Appleton Memorial Hospital Saturday morning while she was being admitted. Rita Bark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Bark, Seymour, was taken to the office of an Appleton doctor, earlier in the morning on an appointment. The doctor told the couple to take their baby to the hospital. Outagamie County Coroner Bernard Kemps said the cause of death would be determined after laboratory tests.

Neenah Woman Hurt In Oshkosh Accident

OSHKOSH — Mrs. D. W. Bergstrom, 250 South Park Ave., Neenah, complained of a strained neck after her car was hit in the rear by one driven by Russell J. Miller, 603 Knapp St., Oshkosh, at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The accident happened on Harrison Street at Main and New York Avenue. Mrs. Bergstrom had stopped for the traffic light. Her car was bumped in the rear by the Miller car. Her daughter, Jennifer, 7, was not injured.

Safecrackers Strike 3 Oshkosh Public Schools

OSHKOSH — Safecrackers took more than $1,000 from three Oshkosh schools in burglaries over the weekend. The break-ins were reported to police this morning by the janitors. The schools were Oshkosh High School in the center of the city, Merrill School on W. New York Avenue on the north side and South Park School, off S. Park Avenue, in the southwestern part of Oshkosh.

About $500 was taken from the high school safe, $253 from the Merrill School walk-in safe and between $260 and $275 from the walk-in vault at South Park School.

Entry methods seemed to be the same in each case, police said. Janitors found the Merrill and South Park schools still properly locked. Police believe either a key was used or the lock was picked. The west door at Oshkosh High School was found ajar this morning but police said this may have been the way the burglars left. Entry was gained into the principals' offices in each case either by prying the lock on the door or breaking the glass window in the door.

The dials on the high school and Merrill school safes were knocked off. A one-inch pry bar was used to pry the lock cylinder out on the South Park School safe.

In each case the contents of the vaults were ransacked and strewn about. The money taken was basically in small denomination bills and coins.

The board of education office, in the vocational school, which adjoins the high school building, also was entered and the dial on its safe broken. A release of tear gas is believed to have driven away the burglar and the safe was not entered.

Illinois Team Wins Brigade Rifle Shoot

NEENAH — Notre Dame Rifle Club Team 1, Niles, Ill., won the team championship in the National Rifle Association sectional championships at the Boys' Brigade Saturday.

The team shot a composite score of 1,488, out of a possible 1,600 to beat Southtown YMCA of Chicago by 23 points. The Neenah Brigade finished seventh in the 15-team field with a total of 1,343. Barbara Law of Neenah won the individual championship in the girls event with a score of 331. Wesley Doak of Southtown YMCA had the top over-all score of 377. Jim Nielsen, Neenah, had the top score on the Neenah Brigade team with 354.

Injures Arm

Preparatory Work to Begin on Neenah Parking Facility

NEENAH — Mayor Chester S. Bell announced this morning that preparatory work on a new municipal parking lot, east of the city hall, has been started.

The last house between city hall and the police station has been torn down and grading and leveling will begin.

Future plans include providing drainage, blacktopping, marked stalls and lighting. Meters also will be installed sometime in the future but are not contemplated immediately.

Two Women Receive Minor Leg Injuries

MENASHA — Two women received minor left leg injuries about 2 p.m. Saturday when the store Thursday in Bear Creek are tools were used in safe burglaries. Struck the rear of a halted auto at Main and Center Streets. Injured were Mrs. Emmett Klesner, 972 Third St., and Miss Meta Buss, 912 Draper St., Kaukauna. The car, driven by Emmett Klesner, 48, struck that of Frank C. Sarge, 54, Chicago.

Twin Sisters, Mrs. Margaret Grafmeier, left and Mrs. Christina Halfman, both of Kaukauna, are 80 years old today. They were honored at a party at the John Grafmeier home, 117 N. John St., Kimberly, Sunday. The sisters continue to shop together and wear the same type clothes.

Izaak Walton Speaker Urges Public Kill Water Use Bill

Ernest Swift Says Program Would Kill Semblance of Public Rights

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — The Izaak Walton League and other public spirited forces must combine their efforts and strength to "kill off this series of wateruse bills that can ultimately destroy all semblance of public right in the waters of the state."

Speaking at the state conference of the Izaak Walton League here Saturday, Ernest Swift warned that to gain their end, "these agitators would knowingly destroy the Conservation Commission, the department and the entire concept of conservation ethics as we know them."

Theme of the 1961 conference was "water and its uses". Swift, former executive director of the National Wildlife Federation and a former director of the State Conservation Department, blasted proposed legislation contained in Bill 20-A and the individuals and interests supporting it at Madison. The bill, which would create a new agency to oversee all Wisconsin water resources and allow two or more counties in a watershed to set up water conservancy districts was also debated in an afternoon forum.

Author of Bill
Attorney Charles Hanaway introduced Prof. J. H. Beuscher, of the University of Wisconsin Law School, who drafted the water conservancy bill and will appear in its behalf at a scheduled second hearing on Thursday. Other forum speakers were Walter E. Scott, administrative assistant to the director of the Conservation Dept.; Roy Tulane, of the state attorney general's office, and Leonard Bessman, chairman of the state Public Service Commission.

Beuscher described the need for a "water planning approach, a rational scheme for allocation of water". He called present water authority a "conglomerate", and a "topsy-like development". He said we now wait for a problem cluding white water, future needs and majority interest, he reported. He described the decision against damming and development on the Popple and also the commission decision in approving a dam on the Wolf River near Pearson. The decisions, Bessman said, were not inconsistent. Each case had its peculiar characteristics and both were difficult but well-tried cases, he said.

Private Profit
Swift began his dinner speech by noting that "public and riparian water rights are now under direct attack by those who want public water for their own private profit. Why? Because water is the 'liquid gold' of the future."

"If the exploiters aided and abetted by some public servants, can break the barricade in Wisconsin, all sections of the country east of the Mississippi will be fighting a rear-guard action to retain any semblance of water rights for their public."

Swift criticized the water conservancy district plan and proposals to ease water diversion rules for irrigators. Referring to the bill, Swift noted the water conservancy district proposal was drawn by Professor Beuscher of the university law school. "Again appear the fine Italian hand of personnel from the university attempting to legalize the theft of public rights of the many, for the profits of a few," he charged.

In the morning session, Fred Stamm of Markesan was elected president. James Quinn, retiring president of the state organization, was named vice-president along with B. W. Burdick of Sheboygan. New directors include Dick Steinbrack of Green Bay; Tom Slettery, Manitowoc; Donald Hansen, of Watertown, and C. F. Spanholz of Waukesha.

Humorous Incidents of the Civil War were part of the talks given by a panel of Oshkosh State College professors Sunday at the Reeve Memorial Union in observance of the Civil War centennial. Seated are, left to right, Dr. W. Fletcher Thompson, Jr., Dr. Edward Noyes, and Dr. Robert C. Delk, who presided, while standing is Dr. Lee N. Newcomer. An exhibit of Civil War materials and pictures will be on display at the college for 10 days.

Professors Review Various Aspects of Civil War Era

Oshkosh Marks Centennial Of Conflict With Talks, Displays

OSHKOSH — Three Oshkosh pictured the war as seen through State College history professors made the war between the states come alive before several hundred people Sunday afternoon as the college marked the centennial of the Civil War.

Each viewed one aspect of the war, painting the humor of some of the incidents — although there was nothing funny in them at the time but gained the humor through retrospect. A reception in the Reeve Memorial Union followed their talks.

Supplementing their presentation was a display of Civil War mementoes which will continue on display in the lounge for 10 days.

Dr. Lee N. Newcomer spoke of "Ram Warfare on the Mississippi River" as he told how unarmed but heavily bowed steamboats, commanded by a Union army colonel, took the lead away from the navy and turned the river fighting tide in favor of the Union as it led a foray against the Confederate fleet near Memphis.

Dr. W. Fletcher Thompson Jr., safes open. Their work was quite professional, Zuelzke commented.

At the Badger firm in Menasha, the pair took a cash box with about $400 in checks. They put stones in the box and tossed it into the Fox River canal near South from Appleton and Winnebago. Shawano and Waupaca counties talked with the pair.

Shawano County Sheriff Carl Krueger and Waupaca County Undersheriff George Meating searched Werth's car, turning up an empty paper pennies roll and a part roll of nickels.

3 County Raids
In recounting the Thursday night-early Friday morning burglary through three counties, Werth said they tried to punch the walk-in safe at the Clintonville store, but couldn't open it.

(Punching a safe is knocking off the combination, then turning the locking mechanism so the door opens.) The pair then knocked off the safe's hinges, and the door remained shut. Then one of the men hammered away at the door in sheer frustration. The door opened and without the hinges, nearly fell on them and damaged a desk.

"It (the door) must have weighed one-to-five-year sentence in the reformatory in 1956 for grand larceny."

Werth and Kersten estimated that none of the safe crackings took over 20 minutes and some Kersten got off the first part of the lock only five minutes. In most this month, Both said they had cases, the pair broke windows in stayed out of trouble until the April 6 job in Kaukauna.

ance of warfare, Dr. Thompson remarked. But the artists, like the general public, were encumbered with romantic heroic images of warfare derived from paintings and engravings of earlier wars.

Thus, they were ill-prepared for what they actually saw in combat. As experience in the field increased, their drawings began to show the true war and the actual combat.

Engravers and staff artists back in New York often changed these sketches, such as to show a cavalry troop riding on a fast charge, firing a carbine with one hand and waving a saber in the other, giving no thought to holding the reins of the horse. Or, in another case, the sketch was changed to have a troop marching in step but at the same speed as the commander whose horse was in a fast gallop position. Soldiers were quite critical of such pictures.

Paints Non-Combat Life
Artists such as Winslow Homer, known for his sea pictures, portrayed the life and routine of the army in its non-combat hours with special emphasis on the ordinary foot soldier. Dr. Thompson said. The artists developed quick methods of sketching a battle and in several minutes could have the sketch ready, needing only to fill in later the background.

The "Battle of Port Washington" was described by Dr. Noyes as he told of the unpopularity of the draft agents in 1862. Riots against being drafted had ensued and the cannon used to mark holidays was brought out to defend Ozaukee county from the state's draft agents. Troops had to be sent to restore the draft and several hundred prisoners were taken away for court martial.

Troops had to be sent to West Bend also and troubles over the draft developed at Milwaukee, Sheboygan, Kewaunee, Green Bay and Manitowoc. Someone hit the draft agent in the head with a rock at Sheboygan so he pulled out his gun and threatened to shoot the next one causing trouble. Dr. Noyes recounted.

Green Bay became filled with "Canadian refugees," persons heading for Canada to avoid being drafted, so that there were not enough rooms to house all those passing through.

15,000 Called, 628 Report
Out of 121,000 eligible for the draft, only 14,935 names were drawn in the 1862 draft. Of this 2,689 failed to report and about 5,000 were paid commutation money. Only 628 actually went into the army from those whose names were drawn.

Reasons explained by Dr. Noyes for evasion and resistance to the draft were the "Copperhead" newspapers which opposed Lincoln and the war, many immigrants had fled Europe to avoid army conscription and were opposed to it here, politics as many of the Democratic papers were had just been successfully established in America by 1860, and, consequently, the American people had the opportunity for the first time to witness the appearance of the soldiers which

Youth Admits Receiving Stolen Ring

OSHKOSH — Robert J. Massonet, 18, 1102 W. Spencer St., Appleton, admitted receiving stolen property when he appeared before Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane today.

Judge Cane stayed a sentence of three months in Winnebago County jail and placed the youth on probation for a year to his attorney, Joseph Witmer, Appleton.

Juvenile court proceedings are scheduled this week against the youth.

Massonet told Lt. Richard Guenther, of the district attorney's office he had been called to the Valley Merchandise Sales parking lot April 12 when the boy's car became stuck in the

Menasha Man Pays $104 for No Driver's License

NEENAH — Carl Nollenberg, 20, 632 1/2 Third St., Menasha, pleaded guilty of driving while his license was revoked and was fined $104.20 this morning by Police Justice E. P. Arpin. Nollenberg's license also was revoked for another year.

He was arrested by Neenah police at 1:30 a.m. Sunday after his car became stuck in the mud in the parking lot of a tavern on S. Commercial street and he called a tow truck to pull him free.

Sally Jo Colden, 18, 124 E. Franklin Ave., Neenah, was fined $14.20 for failure to report an accident when the car she was driving hit a street barricade on S. Commercial while she was driving Nollenberg to his car.

He said the 17-year-old had given him the ring then.

An Appleton towing firm, called to the parking lot later, noticed the broken door in the store and notified police.

Permit Asked For $1 Million Plant Project

Leach Company
To Build on North Side of Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — Application has been filed by the Leach Co., manufacturers of refuse collection truck bodies, for a building permit to put up a $1 million plant on Harrison Street on the north side of the city.

The permit is being held pending filing of construction plans.

Building Inspector George Zarter issued 67 building permits totaling $669,000 in March. Major projects were a $230,000 store for the J. C. Penney Co. on N. Main Street, a $150,000 National Guard Armory off Ninth Avenue and a $20,000 store front change for S. S. Kresge Co. on N. Main Street.

Nine New Homes
Nine houses costing $104,400 were approved. Other construction projects include a $35,000 food market addition for Louis Thoma, a $7,500 machine shop addition for Ideal Products Co., a $9,000 factory addition for Oshkosh Motor Truck, Inc., and a $4,000 office building for Consumers Co.

February building projects include a $23,000 apartment house to Roger Peters Construction Co., and a $4,000 tramway for Triangle Manufacturing Co. February permits totaled $58,514 in construction.

Houses costing $57,000 led the January building permits which totaled work valued at $80,040.

George P. Pierce Dies in Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — George P. Pierce, real estate and insurance agent for many years, died Saturday noon.

Pierce was born near Appleton and lived most of his life in Menasha and, for the last 20 years, in Oshkosh.

He worked in the office of Menasha Wooden Ware Co. and was in the insurance business before spending 10 years as a partner in Menasha Motor Co., running Soo Line buses between Neenah and Menasha.

Auto Parts Stolen From Fair Storage

Manawa Man Tells Chilton Police
$3,000 in Equipment Missing

CHILTON — Theft of automotive parts and equipment valued boards from windows at more than $3,000 from a Cal. Dryden's inventory shows that the loot consists of 30 new automobiles, where the equipment was mobile tires, 16 recapped tires, being stored by a Manawa man, two new truck tires, two steel is being investigated by city and parts bins and Ford parts valued at $1,500, a welder, an electric drill, 20 boxes of spark plugs and three car radios.

Robert Dryden, head of Manawa Motor Sales, reported the theft Saturday to Undersheriff C. J. Kosmosky and Police Chief Nor-man Pfeffer.

Dryden, who purchased about $5,000 worth of equipment at Kriwanek Fords Sales disposal sale here last year and stored it in the building, told police he noticed items missing some time ago but failed to report his findings to police, according to Pfeffer. Dryden also said several padlocks on the door of the isolated building were smashed during the storage period. These Dryden told police, he replaced and never bothered to report the incidents, Pfeffer said.

No Forced Entry
Pfeffer said there is no evidence of forced entry but added that the equipment could have been carried away by removing

Mayor Seeking Information on County Trunk

Relocation of Z to Have Bearing on City Development

KAUKAUNA — Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon has written to the Outagamie County highway committee seeking definite information on the relocation of County Trunk Z.

Bayorgeon said planning commission meetings in the last few months have dealt with problems for the city because of its continued growth, particularly in the southwestern part of the community.

The relocation of County Trunk Z from the east end of the College Avenue Bridge to State 55 in Kaukauna would involve the southwestern area of the city.

The planning commission would appreciate any information, the mayor said, on whether a preliminary study is being made, if a study is anticipated and how long the study will take. This information is necessary to permit the planning commission to follow proper procedure in drawing up an official map and attempting to regulate growth in the area.

Hobby Club Contest Winners Announced

Five Fox Cities area youngsters are winners of fly-back balls for their entries in the picture scramble Hobby Club contest published April 5 in the Appleton Post-Crescent.

A DePere girl, Debbie Bittner, 9, Green Bay area winner, was named one of the five national winners whose contest entries were judged to be the best from all cities where the Young Hobby Club column is published. To be eligible for national competition, the reader must be an area or local winner first.

The five young Post-Crescent readers who will receive fly-back balls by mail from Cappy Dick include Nancy Krueger and Kathleen Wigstadt, 11, both of route 2, Neenah; Peg Booth, 938 Marquette St., Menasha; Cary Olson, 9, 823 Betty Ave., Neenah, and Shirley Affield, 12, Star route, New London.

OCTC Students to Fete Area School Teachers

KAUKAUNA — Sister Mary Huss and Miss Rosemarie McGlin-Aquinas, science coordinator for Catholic schools in the Green Bay Diocese, will be guest speaker for the annual teachers' banquet staged by students of Outagamie County Teachers College, planned for 6 p. m. Thursday at St. Mary School Cafeteria.

The dinner gives student teachers the opportunity to entertain teachers from schools in the area where the college group spent time practicing teaching.

Other entertainment will include a solo selection by David Foxgrover, student at Kaukauna High School; vocal selections by the Little Chute-Kaukauna Chorus and a forensic oration by Mrs. Paul Larners.

Mrs. Donald Biselx will serve as toastmistress and E. H. Gordon, college president, is general chairman. Serving on the planning committee are Richard Gerrits, Robert Hanson, Shirley Belongea and Joanne Henn.

Robert Hanson will serve as host and hostesses will be Miss Mary

Kaukauna Youth Fined $50 for Gun Incident

KAUKAUNA—Joseph Brochtrup Jr., 18, 112 W. Third Street, Kaukauna, was fined $50 on disorderly conduct charge by Justice Oscar T. Jahns Saturday after the youth was arrested during a scuffle about 2:30 a. m. Saturday when he fired a shotgun into the air.

Police said Brochtrup had returned home with a friend and was angry about an incident with a girl friend. His friend went into a house with him in an attempt to calm him down. An argument developed. Brochtrup went for a single shot, 12-gauge shotgun, leading to a scuffle between the pair.

The scuffle carried on outside where the gun discharged. Police were called by the boy's father. He was taken to the city jail overnight and his guns confiscated.

Justice Jahns ordered police to hold the youth's guns, including a target pistol and another shotgun for 6 months and told Brochtrup, if he was arrested for any type of violation within this period, the guns will be ordered sold.

Furniture Will be Displayed in Neenah, Curator Says

NEENAH — The Neenah Park and Recreation Department has been given a davenport that belonged to James D. Doty, territorial governor of Wisconsin in 1844, for Doty Cabin, Harvey Leaman, curator, announced today.

The davenport was acquired from T. H. Mitchell, route 2, Pulaski, who is a distant descendant of Doty.

The davenport came to Mitchell from his grandfather, Alexander William Collins, who was a brother-in-law of Doty.

After retiring as territorial governor, Doty returned to live in Doty Cabin and was appointed superintendent of Indian affairs in Utah by President Abraham Lincoln in 1860.

When Doty left for Utah he sold his furniture at auction and the davenport was purchased by Collins.

Transported By Boat
Doty had purchased the davenport in New England and it was brought to Neenah by boat, up through the Mississippi River and the Wisconsin and Fox River waterways.

Leaman said the davenport originally was upholstered in a red velvet and they will attempt to have the upholstery restored in the original material.

Leaman also said that a set of dishes that belonged to Doty are now in the possession of Mrs. Clifford H. Krueger, Wauwatosa. Mrs. Krueger's maiden name is Mitchell.

He said that he was told by Mrs. Krueger that they have provided in their will for the dishes to be turned over to Doty Cabin.

Drunken Drivers Kill 33 Each Day

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) Things a non-drinker. What are the two most beautiful words in the English language? Dorothy Parker's choice: "Check enclosed."
Safety experts say this is the price of drinking driving—33 persons killed daily, 1,200 injured. The driver who drinks is four times more likely to become involved in an accident than the dollar to a dime he can't name the first woman to submerge in a submarine. She was Clara Barton, founder of the U.S. Red Cross.
Status Symbol? Ha! Laughter has become a status symbol. Some psychologists say the more often a person laughs, the higher he probably is on the social scale.

We're not sure why, but lightning last year struck four times as many men as women. A possible reason: most women have more sense than to go out into a storm.
While we're on this subject, did you know the electric eel is one of nature's most potent forms of living lightning? It can produce 600 volts, enough to stun a buffalo.
Our quotable notables: "No man in the world has more courage than the man who can stop after he has eaten one peanut." —Channing Pollock.
About Age
You're middle-aged if you can remember the Marmon, the Stutz Bearcat, and the Cord. They are among the nearly 2,000 different makes of automobiles—ranging from the ABC (1906) to the Zip (1913)—that have been manufactured in this country.
Tiny, crowded Japan is getting even more crowded—because its people are getting bigger. Since 1900 the average 20-year-old Japanese man has grown from 5 feet 3 3/4 inches to 5 feet 4 1/2. Japanese girls have done even better, rising from 4 feet 10 to 5 feet and a quarter-inch.
Financial troubles break up many marriages, but prosperity viced, "Live so that you can stick out your tongue at the insurance piness. Wealthy America as the doctor."

Air Reservists Get Promotions

OSHKOSH — Air reservist Roger F. Jensen, 331 Waugoo Ave., Oshkosh, has been promoted from major to lieutenant colonel, according to orders announced today by Lt. Col. Ivan E. Williams, commanding officer of the 9661st Air Force Reserve Squadron.
Col. Jensen was recently appointed commander of Oshkosh's all-officer flight 'A'. He has 20 years of active duty and reserve Air Force service.
Col. Williams also announced the promotion of Orin J. Kutz, 1820 Alaska St., from staff sergeant to tech sergeant. Kutz is assigned to the all-airman local flight 'B'.
Chamber of Commerce Committee Takes No Action on Two Bills
NEENAH — The Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce congressional action committee made no recommendations on two bills discussed at its meeting Thursday, but urged members to express their opinions in letters to congressmen.
Discussed were the minimum wage proposal which would raise the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour by 1962 and a bill bringing

Old Car Club Has Meeting At Clintonville

Horseless Carriage Group Lists Plans For Summer Months

CLINTONVILLE — About 40 members of the Wisconsin regional group of the Horseless Carriage Club met Sunday at the home of Milton Colden, route 3, to discuss the summer program. Members were present from Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Rosendale, Appleton, Gillett, Manawa and Clintonville.

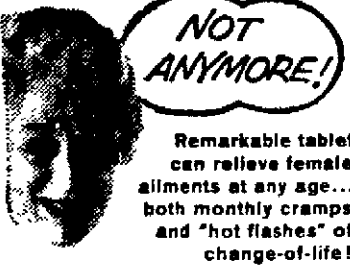

The first event will be a picnic May 21 at an Appleton park. Members will dress in costumes and drive their cars.

June 10 and 11, the group will attend a steam meet and tour at Fond du Lac. July 21, 22 and 23, there will be a tour to St. Germain and Eagle River. Aug. 6 the club will attend Bratwurst Day at Sheboygan.

Other Tours
Other tentative tours planned are to Capitol Court, Milwaukee, and a meeting with a group from Milwaukee for a corn roast at Sheboygan in September.

Officers are John Hill, Rosendale, president; Colden, vice-president; Mrs. Clayton Fischer, Manitowoc, secretary, and Mrs. Helen Spangnagle, Sheboygan, editor-of the club's publication.

"Must I Suffer All My Life because I'm a woman?"

Remarkable tablet can relieve female ailments at any age... both monthly cramps and "hot flashes" of change-of-life!

Just because you're a woman you don't have to suffer nasty cramps every month. Don't have to go through the change with fear and misery! Today, most women can relieve "female suffering" at any age—with Pinkham's Compound.

In doctor's tests with Pinkham Tablets, most young women no longer suffered agonizing "period pains". In middle-age, 8 out of 10 tested got remarkable relief from distress of change-of-life! No costly shots were used. Taking Pinkham Tablets alone, "hot flashes" subsided. Nervousness is calmed. Then you can start living a full, happy life again!

When simple iron-deficiency anemia robs you of energy, Pinkham Tablets are also a blessing! Rich in iron, they help strengthen blood and vitality!

So don't "give in" to female ailments. Get Lydia E. Pinkham Tablets from druggists. Take daily, like vitamins! See if you don't find new peace-of-mind, new relief from physical discomforts too!

IF YOU PREFER A LIQUID druggists also have famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Nelson Renews Appeal for Tax Withholding Plan

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson today chose income tax deadline day to renew his appeal for adoption of a withholding system for collection of state income taxes.

"If the 1959 Legislature had accepted my withholding proposal," Nelson said, "most people would now owe the state nothing."

Nelson also pointed out that the 20 per cent surtax wouldn't have been paid either because it was forgiven under his plan.

The governor said his new withholding plan, now before the 1961 Legislature, "goes even further by forgiving all state taxes on the first $10,000 of everyone's 1961 income."

With the passage of a withholding system in Minnesota Nelson said "26 of the states with income taxes have now adopted the withholding system of collecting those taxes."

3 Tippy Drivers Plead Guilty

Motorists Appear In Courts at Oshkosh, Neenah

Three motorists pleaded guilty of drunken driving when they were arraigned in Oshkosh and Neenah courts today and Saturday.

They were: William Behrand, 33, 1332 Reed Ave., Oshkosh; Alfred V. Capelle, 26, 134 1/2 Gruenwald Ave., Neenah, and John W. Schulz, 42, route 1, Neenah.

Behrand was arrested Saturday evening in Oshkosh after his car struck a parked car on Monroe Street. He paid a total of $105.35 in fines and costs when he appeared before Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane in Oshkosh today. Behrand tested .16 on the breathalyzer. Capelle was arrested Friday when his car struck the rear of another car on Winneconne Avenue in Neenah. He paid fines and costs totalling $129.20 when he appeared before Neenah Justice E. P. Arpin Saturday. Capelle tested .17 on the drunkometer.

Schulz paid fines and costs totalling $104.20 when he appeared today before Justice Arpin. Schulz was arrested Sunday evening by Neenah police after his car struck a parked vehicle in the 200 block of S. Forest Avenue. He did not take the drunkometer test. A hit and run charge against him was dismissed.

All three men will lose their right to drive for one year.

Coogan Goes to Court For Drunkenness

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—Jackie Coogan, 46, onetime child star, is scheduled for arraignment today on a charge of being intoxicated in an automobile.

California highway patrol officers said they found Coogan early Sunday morning in his parked car in this coastal suburb near Hollywood. He was booked and released a few hours later on bail.

A judge last month dismissed a narcotics charge against Coogan on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Train Printers

Graphic Arts Institute Suggested for Menasha

MENASHA — A two-year graphic arts institute, similar to the Institute of Paper Chemistry, was suggested for Menasha by H. L. Sherman, director of the Menasha Vocational and Adult School, at the Menasha Printers' Club dinner Saturday night.

The institute, Sherman said, should go two years beyond high school, to train apprentice printers for state certification.

Fox River Valley training industry.

Harold O. Griffith, trades and industry coordinator of the Vocational School, also called for expanding the printing program to include other graphic arts processes.

Griffith was honored at the dinner, the 30th held by the club, because of his approaching retirement as a high school instructor. He will remain at the vocational school after the current school term.

New officers of the club, elected Saturday, will be James Plankuch, 1951 graduate, president; Donald Dahl Jr., 1957, vice-president, and Robert Young, 1959, secretary-treasurer.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—President Michael J. Quill of the Transport Workers Union says subways, buses, railroads and airlines should be turned over to the city, state and federal governments.

Quill said Sunday he thought the Pennsylvania Railroad's riding public was being overcharged and "getting poor service." He criticized the "poor management" of the Philadelphia Transportation Co.

Quill appeared as a guest on the 15th annual Philadelphia Evening Bulletin Forum.

Walter W. Patchell, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, answering Quill's proposal, said: "You get this all set up and nationalized, like Russia, and I'm going to hunt for another place to live."

Civic Leader at Waupaca Dies

Clarence E. Kopp, 54, Served as Educator, Red Cross Leader

WAUPACA — Clarence E. Kopp, 54, 363 S. Washington St., former educator and a Waupaca civic leader, died at 6 a.m. Saturday after suffering a heart attack.

Kopp was the current noble grand of the IOOF Chapter 208. He served as chairman of the Waupaca Red Cross in 1951 and was chapter executive secretary from 1952 to 1954. From May 1 to Oct. 1, 1956, he was city clerk.

He was principal of Tigerton schools from 1934 to 1938 and superintendent of schools at Rosendale and West Salem from 1938 to 1942. In 1942 he became a civilian instructor at Truax Field, Madison. He came to Waupaca in 1950 as an insurance agent.

He received his master degree in 1937 from Iowa University. He taught school in Chicago and Eureka, Ill., before coming to Tigerton.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Holly Funeral Home with the Rev. James Saunders, pastor of the First Methodist Church, in charge. Burial will be in Lakeside Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, three sons and two sisters.

Doing business by check is a practice which is here to stay and business would no doubt grind to a halt without the convenience of bank checks, therefore good check cashing habits should be practiced by all who are required to accept checks in any form. The following ideas are the result of years of observation of the habits of bad check passers, and from a study of thousands of worthless checks which have been submitted to the Wisconsin State Crime

Know the Endorser

The safest checks to cash are those presented by persons known to the individual who passes out United States currency and merchandise in exchange for pieces of paper. Occasionally, a check tendered by a known individual will "bounce" but when this hap-

No Stamps

When checks are executed by a stranger at the time they are cashed, use of rubber stamps for payee name should be avoided. Nor should individuals accepting a check for cashing complete the face of the check for a stranger, and permit him to sign it — a passer should be required to write all entries on the face of the check. In the event a check “bounces,” identification of an individual can often be made providing a sufficient amount of

All law enforcement agencies gain by the exchange of information through the check file and the Wisconsin Law Enforcement Bulletin, and the habitual bad check passer loses the anonymity necessary to the successful practice of his trade.

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results — here's good news. For the first time, there has found a new healing substance to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids — without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

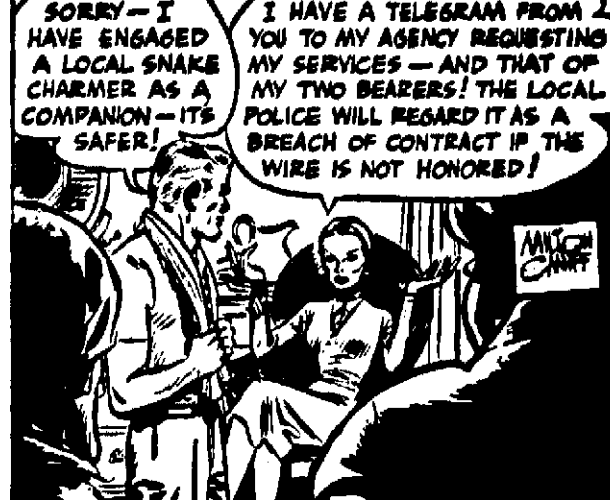

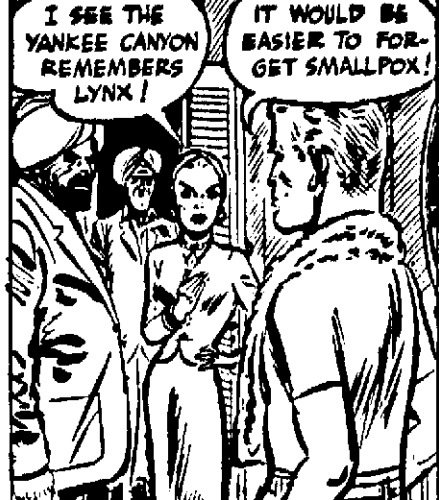

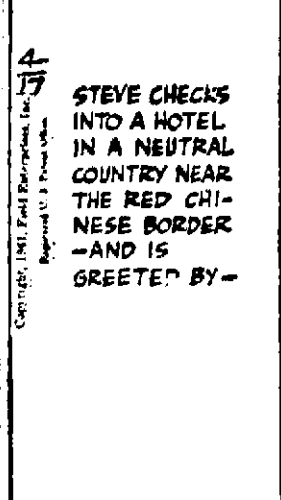

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoids, conditions some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in Ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H®. Ask for Preparation H® Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H® Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

Words often misused: Avoid the use of TRANSPIRE in the sense of "to happen." Correctly, it means to pass from secret to general knowledge, as, "The events at that session did not transpire until five years later."

Often mispronounced: Cone (like a cone). Pronounce kawn-ick, and not "cone-ick."

Often misspelled: Manner (habits, custom, conduct). Manor (a large one word each day, mansion).

Synonyms: Consider, think, as contracted with mature; unstudy, reflect, ponder, contem-plate, meditate. (Pronounce plate, meditate.)

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us in-

College Singers to Give Menotti Operas

Prof. John Koopman of Conservatory Directing 2 Short Chamber Works

For a revival of activities in Lawrence College Opera Theater, Prof. John Koopman has chosen two of Gian-Carlo Menotti's most popular chamber operas for presentation.

"The Telephone" and "The Old Maid and the Thief" will be given at 8:15 p. m. Friday and Saturday in the Stansbury Auditorium of the Music-Drama Center.

"The Telephone" is performed with a cast of two, soprano Ann Clark, Oconomowoc, and baritone John Bauerlein, Appleton.

Cast in "The Old Maid and the Thief" are Mary Hallenbeck, Kenosha, as Miss Todd; Eva Tamulenas, Racine, as Miss Pinkerton; Enid Skripka, Milwaukee, as Letitia, and James Cook, Marinette, as Bob. Accompanists will be Celoris Hackbart, Poyette; and Carol Nohling, Kenosha.

Koopman, assistant professor of voice at the Conservatory, will direct the production. He is a newcomer this year to the Lawrence faculty, having recently been at Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kan.

Opera Interest
Throughout his professional career, he has been extremely interested in opera performance, both as a singer and a director.

During three years at Bethany, he directed eight operas, among them Menotti's "The Consul" and Mozart's "The Magic Flute." He has performed more than 30 operas at Drake and Indiana Universities, and in one of them, a performance of "Manon Lescaut" at Indiana, his singing partner was Grace Trestler, Lawrence alumna from Sheboygan. A robust bass, Koopman specializes in buffo roles, and during the past year won the Kansas district contest of the Metropolitan auditions.

Koopman holds the bachelor and master of music education degrees from Drake University. He is now at work on his doctorate in music literature and performance at Indiana.

The singer has held the Mabel Moss Madden voice performance scholarship at Drake, and toured midwestern states with Drake's opera workshop, which included a performance at Milwaukee's municipal auditorium before the Music Educators National Conference.

More Background
While in military service, Koopman directed a battalion chorus in Anchorage, Alaska. His teachers have been Mark Rothmiller at Indiana, Genevieve Wheat Baal at Drake, and Marita Farrell at Anchorage.

Since coming to Wisconsin, Koopman has sung a full recital at the Lawrence Conservatory, has been bass soloist in "The Messiah" both in Oshkosh and Escanaba, Mich., during the Christmas season and, performed the Faure Requiem with the choir of the First Congregational Church in Sheboygan. He directs the choir of the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Appleton.

Tickets for the operas are available at Bellings pharmacy.

Liz Taylor Expected to Win Oscar

BY JAMES BACON

AP Movie-TV Writer

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Most everybody is betting Liz Taylor will win her first Oscar tonight—everybody but the beautiful star herself.

"I'm not betting on it," Miss Taylor told a reporter, "but I'll be there just the same."

She admits she's feeling a little squeamish as the zero hour approaches for Hollywood's 33rd annual Academy Award show.

"The competition looks tougher than ever," said Liz, who has been nominated four times in a row.

The two-hour awards show, telecast over ABC-TV, gets under way at 9:30 p. m. (CST) from the Santa Monica Civil Auditorium.

Bob Hope will be master of ceremonies. According to most polls, only the big contention is among the men. It's a down-to-the-wire race between Jack Lemmon and Burt Lancaster for best actor. The same goes for Sal Mineo and Peter Ustinov for best supporting actor.

Among the supporting actresses, Shirley Jones, like Miss Taylor, is rated a shoo-in.

It will be a big night for Liz.

win or lose. It's her first public outing since her near fatal illness. If she wins, her doctor has warned her to go easy on the celebration afterwards.

She was nominated for "Butterfield 8." Her competition is Greer Garson for "Sunrise at Campobello," Deborah Kerr for "The Sundowners," Shirley MacLaine for "The Apartment," and Melina Mercouri for the Greek-made "Never On Sunday."

Should Lemmon win for "The Apartment," he will become the first actor ever to ever win both the supporting and top acting awards.

Consumers Kept Up Their Spending

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The one spender in this country who didn't misbehave the tiniest bit during the recent recession was you, the U.S. consumer. On the contrary, you and the millions of us like you acted most rationally—in fact, magnificently—from start to finish.

By being so reasonable and steadfast in our spending for goods and services in the marketplace, we contributed mightily to making the 1960-61 recession one of the mildest and shortest of modern times. By continuing to act wisely and with confidence, we're setting the stage for a new upturn.

The same compliment can't be paid to the federal government, for government spending has been fluctuating violently in the last few years. As an illustration, federal spending designed to fight the 1958 recession soared after that recession ended—thereby creating the inflationary pressures inherent in a record peacetime deficit during a cycle of strong business advance. Then the budget swung back to a surplus with such unprecedented abruptness that by late 1959, the tax take was putting the economy under powerful deflationary pressures. The 1960 recession can be traced in part at least to the timing and magnitude of this unplanned federal budget swing.

Federal Reserve
The compliment can't be paid to the Federal Reserve System either, for in its efforts to combat the undesirable pressures caused by the federal budget, the Federal Reserve has been riding a money roller coaster of its own, sharply curbing the supply of credit to curb inflationary borrowing; in 1960 it poured billions into the banking system to encourage borrowing. While there are plenty of justifications for the Federal Reserve's zigzags and zags in money policy, the swings surely have been extremely sharp.

Nor does the U.S. businessman deserve any compliments. Actually, our industrialists have been guilty of precisely the excesses of exuberance and caution they haughtily attribute to you and me. When the steel strike ended in late 1959, they rushed to load up on inventories at a record-shattering pace. When they discovered they had overloaded, they began cutting back at a multi-billion dollar rate. A similar up-down pattern has characterized business spending for new plants and equipment.

But you? You have been a model of stability and conservatism—and since you buy 65 cents of every $1 of goods and services produced in our nation, your actions have been an immense influence.

Hit Peak
Through the months of 1960-61 downturn, you kept spending your income—selectively but steadily and freely—and as 1960 ended, your spending was running at a peak of close to $331 billion, more than $11 billion above the rate of a year before.

It's true that you've been spending a bigger percentage of your income for services, a smaller percentage for big-ticket hard goods. There's no denying that when you spend $1,000 on appliances, you do a lot more to spur production than when you spend $1,000 on your child's education. There's no doubt that the shifts in your spending habits in the last several years have had a significant impact on our economy. And there's no mistaking the fact that for some time now your buying has not given an explosive stimulant to industry.

But the shining point is that during the 1960-61 recession, you did not pull back on spending, you were neither scared nor stampeded into exaggerated actions by what you saw and heard. As Dr. Philip M. Webster, economist of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, puts it, "Rather than behaving irrationally, the consumer appears to have been freely allocating his income to derive maximum satisfaction from it."

As Dr. George Katona of the University of Michigan emphasizes, the "behavior of consumers" explains why we've had only "short and mild recessions."

You, who so often have been scolded by businessmen for being capricious, have instead been a stabilizing, sustaining force. Our whole country would move ahead faster and more powerfully if businessmen and government would stop maligning and start copying us.

Oxford Paper Looks To Earnings About Equal to Last Year

Oxford Paper Co., Portland, Maine, expects to report earnings for the first quarter of this year about equal to or slightly behind those of the comparable 1960 period. William H. Chisholm, president, told the annual meeting.

In the March, 1960, quarter, the company had net income of $738,270, equal to 63 cents a share.

Chisholm said he expects earnings for all 1961 to be about the same as 1960 despite surplus productive capacity in the paper industry.

For the year ended Dec. 31, the company had net income of $2,784,480, or $2.26 a share. In addition there was a profit from sale of timberland amounting to $2,053,219.

Scott Paper Earnings About Even

Scott Paper Co., Philadelphia, earnings and sales in the first quarter held about even with those of the March quarter of 1960.

The company reported net income for the first period of $6,686,474, equal to 81 cents a common share, compared with $6,678,360 or 83 cents a share on fewer shares, in the 1960 quarter. Sales totaled $79,418,961, down a shade from $80,213,247 a year earlier.

A spokesman said the slight earnings improvement was the result of "improved efficiency and extraordinary budget control." Thomas B. McCabe, president, termed first quarter results "gratifying, especially in view of prevailing economic conditions."

"As manufacturing and trade improve during the rest of the year," the official continued, "Scott's past record would indicate that its 1961 performance should at least reflect any improvement in the general economy."

In 1960, Scott had record profits of $27.7 million, or $3.40 a common share, and record sales of $313.2 million.

The startup of two new plants this year will contribute toward higher sales for the year, McCabe said.

Boxmaker Expansion

St. Joe Paper Co., Birmingham, plans to expand its box making facilities here, said Edward Ball, president of St. Joe. The company is controlled by the A. I. duPont estate, Jacksonville, Fla.

The company plans to erect a building on a 12-acre site recently purchased from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. The building will have about 150,000 square feet and will house St. Joe's sheet box plant, now operating in Birmingham in leased quarters, and a corrugating machine which will be added to the company's Birmingham operation, Ball said. Cost of the project was not disclosed.

Inland Purchase

Inland Container Corp., Indianapolis, has acquired the operating $10 million to Inland's annual sales, which were $93,312,000 in 1960, according to George B. Elliott, Inland Container president.

It Will Continue unseasonably cold tonight east of the plains. Cooler weather is expected in the northwest coastal area. Scattered snow flurries and showers are forecast for varied areas in the nation.

Hammermill Firm Expenditures to Stay at '60 Level

PITTSBURGH — Hammermill Paper Co. plans capital expenditures of about $9 million in 1961, practically unchanged from the $9,250,000 spent in the fiscal year ended Jan. 1, 1961.

The 1961 additions will complete a growth program to boost paper making capacity from about 100,000 tons a year in 1955 to more than 280,000 tons annually by the end of 1961. Two new paper machines under construction at Oswego, N. Y., and Hoquiam, Wash., with a combined capacity of 70,000 tons annually, will be completed during the year. Hammermill said in its annual report.

The company produced 176,000 tons of paper in 1960.

With this increase in capacity, the Erie, Pa.-headquartered company said, "The sales potential of the company should be in the area of $100 million annually."

However, Hammermill cautioned shareholders "it would be unrealistic" to expect an immediate realization of the $100 million sales potential, because "the company will have available a large increase in paper capacity at a time when there is a substantial over-capacity in the industry."

St. Paul Livestock

thus far has piled up about $100 million of debt, mostly for construction at the state colleges and the university of Wisconsin.

Outlook Improving

Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., called on Nelson at the executive office while the reporters came for the regular weekly news conference and observed that the outlook for social security extension to provide medical care is improving in Washington. McCarthy said the program for state legislation with federal support, enacted by the Congress in 1959, has thus far been generally ignored by the states.

State Conservation Department officials during the weekend offered a series of objections to the Nelson conservation program which brought the sharp retort from the governor today. But he said he intends to review their questions this week and is sure that their reservations can be resolved.

Bishops Tell Priests To Keep Out of Any African Politics

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The archbishop of Luanda and four other Roman Catholic bishops in Angola have told their priests to keep out of any political activity in the Portuguese West African territory, the Lusitania news agency reported.

The church leaders also denounced recent killings in the turbulent colony as "unpardonable crimes" and said a man may kill only in self-defense or under legal orders.

Lusitania said people living in the outskirts of Luanda, the capital of Angola, have been ordered to stay indoors nightly after 2 a.m. Violence has been widespread in Angola, where African terrorists have killed scores of European settlers since early March.

More than 3,000 whites have been moved from Luanda's suburbs into the city itself and heavy troop reinforcements have been flown to the territory.

Trades Heavy On Market, Associated Press Average Up Slightly at Noon

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned in extremely heavy trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .10 at 245.60 with industrials up .60, rails off .10 and utilities off .10.

The strength in industrials was enough to push the Dow Jones industrial average on an hourly basis above the recent historic closing high.

Steels, most motors, oils and chemicals had an upside edge. Utilities declined. The group was depressed by a loss of about 2 points in American Telephone.

Electronics Mixed
The electronics and aircraft-missile sections were mixed. Dug tended to the downside. Schering dropped more than 2.

Expectations of another boost in weekly steel production aided the steels. The top producers were all up fractionally.

American Broadcasting - Paramount jumped more than 3.

Gains of about 2 points were made by Polaroid and Ronson. Ampex, Sperry Rand and Smith-Corona Marchant were all up about a point each. Radio Corp. was about a point lower.

Volume for the first two hours was 2.29 million shares, compared with 2.15 million the first two hours on Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.34 at 695.06. The historic closing high was 694.11 posted last Tuesday.

Crown Zellerbach To Hike Bag Prices

SAN FRANCISCO—Crown Zellerbach Corp. will increase the price of grocery bags and sacks by 10 per cent effective May 1, a spokesman disclosed. The big West Coast paper products company also disclosed it cut the price of kraft unbleached wrapping paper in counter rolls $10 a ton, as of the week of March 20-24. The new rate is $25 per hundredweight on 40-pound weight kraft.

A spokesman said the price revisions were purely competitive actions. He said the drop in the kraft paper price stemmed from a general oversupply in the industry.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, OUTAGAMIE COUNTY COURT—IN PROBATE
In the Matter of the Estate of MICHAEL J. JUDKINS, Deceased.
A petition for probate or administration of the estate of Michael J. Judkins, deceased, late of the Village of Kimberly, Outagamie County, Wisconsin, and for determination and adjudication of heirship, having been filed.
That the time within which all creditors of said deceased shall present claims against said estate for examination and allowance is hereby fixed and limited up to and including the 10th day of July, 1961;
That proofs of heirship be taken and all claims and demands against the said deceased be examined and adjusted by the Court on the 11th day of July, 1961, at the opening of the Court on that day, or as soon thereafter as the matter can be heard.
That notice thereof be given by publication of this Order for three consecutive weeks, once in each week, in the Appleton Post-Crescent, the first publication to be within fifteen days from the date hereof; and by mailing a copy of this Order to each interested person whose post office address is known or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained, at least twenty days before the hearing of proceedings.
Dated April 7, 1961.
By the Court,
STANLEY A. STADL, County Judge.
Werner & Macklin, Attorneys.
118 St. John's Place, Appleton, Wis.
(NOTE: Sec. 324.26 Wis. Stats. requires notification of persons who appear to be interested but whose addresses are unknown, in a reasonable manner.)
